

Coverflow Earns Applied Certified Integration Vendor Status, Deepening Native Epic Integration for Agencies & Brokerages

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Coverflow, an AI platform that automates the most complex policy-servicing workflows for insurance agencies and brokerages, has achieved Certified Integration Vendor status from Applied Systems.

Coverflow currently offers a bi-directional integration with Applied Epic spanning document, activity, and policy-level capabilities across endorsement processing, COI generation, and policy checking. With this new certified integration status, agencies gain simplified access to this integration by removing the requirement for additional licensing or purchase.

The certification reinforces Coverflow's Applied Epic integration, enabling agencies to access Coverflow directly from their everyday systems and workflows. Agencies working with Coverflow have cut the time spent on policy checking and other common servicing workflows by as much as 90%, freeing teams to focus on customer relationships and new business instead.

"Becoming an Applied Certified Integration Vendor is a significant milestone for Coverflow and for the agencies we serve," said Akash Samant, Co-Founder and CEO of Coverflow. "A large majority of the top independent retail agencies in the country run on Applied Epic. This certification means those agencies can deploy Coverflow with the confidence that it works safely and securely inside their existing system."

“Our customers want to move quickly and work with the technology partners who best fit their business,” said Trevor Bunker, Chief Customer Officer at Applied Systems. “The Certified Vendor Program is built to get them there faster — giving them a direct, streamlined path to the vendors they choose, with the confidence that every connection into Applied Epic is secure and well-governed.”

The certified integration is available now to Applied Epic customers using Coverflow. Agencies interested in learning more can visit coverflow.com or request a demo here.

About Coverflow

Coverflow is an AI platform for the insurance industry, built to give agencies and brokerages back the revenue capacity that gets lost to manual policy work. The platform handles new business intake, renewals, policy checking, COIs, endorsement processing, and more inside the systems agencies already run, including Applied Epic. Coverflow works with agencies and brokerages across the country, from independent retail agencies to national brokerages. Learn more at coverflow.com.
