

Inclusive Capital Collective Announces Advancement of Trauma-Informed Finance™ at Obama Presidential Center

Selected for the 2026 Pay It Forward Summit, Najaah Yasmine Daniels will present Trauma-Informed Finance™ ahead of the Sept 1 release of the newest Black Paper.

CHICAGO, IL, UNITED STATES, August 13, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Inclusive Capital Collective (ICC) today announced the subject of its newest Black Paper and advancement of Trauma-Informed Finance™ (TIF™), a field of practice and methodology created by ICC Founder Najaah Yasmine Daniels aka Priestess Ifaleri Osunnike Osawemimo that challenges conventional approaches to finance by examining the human conditions, historical harm, and systems of power that influence financial behavior, capital, risk, and economic decision-making.

Daniels has been selected from a competitive pool of proposals to present Trauma-Informed Finance: Where Embodiment Meets Economics as a breakout workshop at the 2026 Pay It Forward Summit, hosted by the Scholars Equity Network at the Obama Presidential Center in Chicago on August 14, 2026.

The selection is significant not simply because the work will be presented at the Obama Presidential Center, but because this particular body of work was selected for a national conversation about what is needed to advance change and action today.

Daniels developed Trauma-Informed Finance™ in 2021 as the formalization of two decades of lived, labored, and learned experience working alongside people and power while navigating capital, community, and civic engagement. The methodology emerged from patterns she had experienced, witnessed, and studied, particularly the ways human conditions, historical harm, and systems of power shape survival, trust, and economic opportunity. Now, the work is advancing with the introduction of K.A.R.M.A™—Know. Adapt. Resource. Mobilize. Act the core framework for putting Trauma-Informed Finance™ into practice.

The Obama Presidential Center presentation marks a significant milestone in advancing Trauma-Informed Finance™ and the public introduction of K.A.R.M.A™ at a national convening. On August 14, ICC will release a sneak peek Executive Summary of From Chaos to K.A.R.M.A™: Introducing Trauma-Informed Finance™, offering an advance look at the Black Paper before its full publication on September 1st.

The August 14 sneak peek will be available at accessispower.com, where readers can view the Executive Summary and sign up to have the full Black Paper delivered directly to their inbox.

THE FIRST FLAGSHIP RELEASE UNDER ACCESS IS POWER

From Chaos to K.A.R.M.A.™: Introducing Trauma-Informed Finance™ is the first flagship intellectual release under ICC's Access is Power campaign and its Liberation pillar.

Access is Power is ICC's broader campaign challenging the systems that determine who has access to capital, opportunity, knowledge, and economic power.

The Liberation pillar asks a deeper question: What must change within the systems themselves?

"Access is not liberation if the conditions inside the system continue to reproduce harm," said Daniels. "We have to examine what counts as capital, who gets to control it, who gets to define risk, and who ultimately benefits."

THE BLACK PAPERS: FROM IDEAS TO FIELD-SHAPING WORK

From Chaos to K.A.R.M.A.™: Introducing Trauma-Informed Finance™ joins ICC's Black Papers series, which has become a credibility cornerstone for the organization over the past six years.

The Black Papers have been referenced, circulated, and used by practitioners, funders, entrepreneurs, and ecosystem leaders seeking language and frameworks for problems that conventional approaches have failed to adequately address.

The series is designed to do more than document existing conditions. It gives emerging ideas a name, a framework, and a body of work that others can engage with, challenge, and build upon.

From Chaos to K.A.R.M.A.™: Introducing Trauma-Informed Finance™ represents the first comprehensive publication of Daniels' Trauma-Informed Finance™ methodology and introduces K.A.R.M.A.™ as its core framework. The Black Paper captures the framework at this point in its evolution and creates a foundation for the work to continue. Trauma-Informed Finance™ and K.A.R.M.A.™ were created by Najaah Yasmine Daniels through Twice As Good LLC, which retains all intellectual property rights. The Inclusive Capital Collective advances the work through education, capital strategy, institutional engagement, and systems change.

ABOUT INCLUSIVE CAPITAL COLLECTIVE

The Inclusive Capital Collective (ICC) is advancing a more equitable economy by challenging the systems that determine who has access to capital, opportunity, ownership, and economic power.

Through its Black Papers, capital strategies, ecosystem work, and Access is Power campaign, ICC develops and advances frameworks that move beyond expanding access to existing systems and toward transforming the systems themselves.

ABOUT NAJAAH YASMINE DANIELS

Najaah Yasmine Daniels aka Priestess Ifaleri Osunnike Osawemimo is the creator of Trauma-Informed Finance™ and K.A.R.M.A.™ Know. Adapt. Resource. Mobilize. Act, Founder & CEO of Twice As Good LLC, and Founding CEO of the Inclusive Capital Collective.

A futurist, disruptor, and healer, Daniels' work spans capital, leadership, spirituality, and systems change. For nearly two decades, she has bridged economics and embodiment, strategy and spirituality, community and capital to challenge conventional assumptions about risk, value, readiness, and opportunity. Her work develops new ways of understanding how human conditions and systems of power shape financial decision-making, capital flow, and the possibilities for change.
