

Thomas Simeone Recognized for 30 Years of Teaching at The George Washington University Law School

This recognition highlights Thomas Simeone's three decades of service as an adjunct professor and his commitment to educating future attorneys.

WASHINGTON, DC, UNITED STATES, August 18, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Simeone & Miller, LLP is pleased to announce that trial attorney and managing partner Thomas Simeone was recently recognized by The George Washington University Law School for 30 years of teaching.

The law school presented Mr. Simeone with an Award for Dedication in Teaching on May 25, 2026. He has served as an adjunct professor while maintaining an active legal practice in Washington, D.C.

"For the past 30 years, teaching has given me the opportunity to share what I have learned in practice while continuing to learn from each new group of students," Mr. Simeone said. "It has been rewarding to help future attorneys strengthen their legal knowledge and prepare for the responsibilities that come with practicing law."

As managing partner of Simeone & Miller, Mr. Simeone represents clients in personal injury, medical malpractice, civil rights, and other litigation matters. He has served as lead trial counsel in state and federal cases involving car accidents, workplace injuries, product liability, and class actions.

The recognition reflects Mr. Simeone's longstanding commitment to legal advocacy and the education of future members of the profession.
