“Celebrating 20 years is an incredible milestone for our school,” said the owner and founder Stephan Hume. “We are grateful to the students, families, instructors, and community members who have been part of our journey. This recognition reflects the passion and dedication that continue to drive us every day.”

Littleton School of Music offers instruction across a wide range of disciplines, including piano, guitar, drums, voice, strings, brass, woodwinds, and songwriting. Its diverse team of instructors is committed to creating a supportive and encouraging environment where students can thrive at their own pace while developing their unique talents.

What sets the school apart is its focus on making music education both accessible and inspiring. Lessons are tailored to individual goals and interests, helping students stay engaged while building technical skills and confidence.

We are grateful to the students, families, instructors, and community members who have been part of our journey. "

Beyond weekly lessons, Littleton School of Music actively supports the local community through outreach initiatives and performance opportunities that allow students to showcase their progress and connect with fellow musicians. These experiences help bring music to life while fostering a strong sense of community and accomplishment.

As it celebrates 20 years of service, Littleton School of Music remains committed to its mission of helping the next generation of musicians learn, grow, and succeed. The school looks forward to continuing its tradition of excellence and making music matter for years to come.

The Consumer Choice Award is based on independent market research evaluating reputation, customer satisfaction, and overall excellence. Littleton School of Music's selection as the 2026 winner highlights its dedication to quality music education and its lasting impact on the Denver community.
