

NINETEEN MINUTES LATER ANNOUNCES CASCADE THEATRE PERFORMANCE AS PART OF THEIR 'THEATRE RUN AUTUMN 2026'

DENVER, CO, UNITED STATES, August 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Colorado alternative rock band Nineteen Minutes Later will perform at the Cascade Theatre on October 23, 2026, marking a meaningful stop on their newly announced Theatre Run Autumn 2026. The fall run represents the band's decision to take their atmospheric, story-driven sound into historic theatres across the West, with Redding serving as one of the centerpiece dates.

A Historic Theatre at the Heart of Redding's Cultural Identity
Opened in 1935, the Cascade Theatre remains one of Redding's most treasured landmarks. Its restored Art Deco architecture, warm acoustics, and long tradition of community programming have made it a gathering place for generations of North State residents. From school productions and film screenings to concerts and civic events, the theatre continues to reflect the values of a community that supports the arts as part of everyday life.

Performing at the Cascade places Nineteen Minutes Later within a long lineage of artists who have contributed to Redding's cultural landscape — a landscape shaped by local pride, regional creativity, and the strong community spirit that defines the city.

A Band Expanding Beyond Colorado While Staying True to Their Roots

Formed in Denver, Nineteen Minutes Later built their identity through steady performances, creative collaborations, and an evolving catalog of original music. Their sound blends alternative rock with atmospheric arrangements, creating immersive songs that balance emotion, energy, and cinematic texture.

While Colorado remains the foundation of their musical journey, the Theatre Run Autumn 2026 marks a new chapter: bringing their music to historic theatres in communities that value storytelling, craftsmanship, and live performance.

Redding's Cascade Theatre fits that vision naturally.

Celebrating Redding's Community Spirit

Redding is known for its welcoming nature, strong local identity, and deep connection to the outdoors. Residents regularly support touring artists and regional performers, filling venues like the Cascade Theatre with a sense of community that extends beyond the stage.

For Nineteen Minutes Later, performing in Redding offers an opportunity to connect with a new audience while honoring the traditions of a city that values live music and cultural preservation.
