Now in its 11th year, the HousingWire Insiders award honors professionals whose behind-the-scenes contributions fuel innovation, strengthen organizations, and deliver meaningful business results. This year's class recognizes 85 leaders from across mortgage lending, servicing, real estate, technology, and finance who consistently drive results through collaboration, strategic execution, and operational excellence.

Nyland was recognized for his exceptional command of mortgage guidelines, underwriting requirements, credit risk, and loan products, and, more importantly, his ability to turn that knowledge into opportunities for OneTrust's loan originators and their clients. His deep understanding of agency, investor, and product guidelines allows him to quickly identify solutions within the guides, helping originators structure challenging loans, overcome obstacles, and find viable paths forward for borrowers.

Rather than simply identifying why a loan scenario may not work, Nyland is known for digging into the guidelines to determine how it can work. By translating complex requirements into practical, actionable strategies, he helps originators approach difficult transactions with greater confidence and uncover opportunities they may otherwise have missed. The result is more options for borrowers, more opportunities for originators to close loans, and stronger production across the organization, all while maintaining sound lending practices and regulatory compliance.

"Nick's knowledge of the guides and his ability to apply that knowledge to real-world loan scenarios is an incredible asset to our originators," said James Hecht, Chief Executive Officer of OneTrust Home Loans. "When a loan presents a challenge, Nick doesn't stop at identifying the issue. He works to find a responsible, compliant path forward. That ability helps our loan officers say yes to more borrowers, close more loans, and ultimately grow their businesses. His impact is felt throughout our organization, and this recognition is incredibly well deserved."

Throughout his career at OneTrust Home Loans, Nyland has become a trusted resource for originators and operations teams navigating complex financing scenarios. Colleagues routinely seek his guidance because of his ability to interpret nuanced guidelines, identify solutions, and clearly explain how to put those solutions into practice. His expertise creates an important bridge between sales, operations, and credit, helping teams move challenging loans forward while managing risk responsibly.

"I'm honored to receive this recognition from HousingWire," said Nyland. "One of the most rewarding parts of my role is helping our loan officers find a way forward on challenging scenarios. The guidelines are there to protect borrowers and the business, but understanding them deeply can also uncover solutions and opportunities. I'm proud to help our teams use that knowledge to serve more clients and close more loans."

HousingWire Editor in Chief Sarah Wheeler said the award recognizes "the operational leaders whose expertise and execution help their organizations thrive," honoring professionals who solve complex challenges, lead critical initiatives, and make a lasting impact behind the scenes.
