With more than two decades of distinguished experience in education, Ms. Phoebe Wasfy has established herself as an influential leader, visionary educator, and champion of academic excellence. As Principal of Philopateer Christian College (PCC), one of Canada's fastest-growing private Christian schools and a proud member of the Association of Christian Schools International (ACSI), she has earned a reputation for cultivating an environment where academic achievement, innovation, and faith-based values thrive. Founded in 1999 by the Coptic Egyptian community as the first private school of its kind in North America, PCC welcomes students from all backgrounds and continues to flourish under Ms. Wasfy's dynamic leadership. Her dedication to educational excellence is further reflected through her memberships in the Ontario College of

Teachers and the Ontario Principals' Council (OPC).

A forward-thinking educational leader, Ms. Wasfy's expertise extends well beyond school administration. Her specialties include educational technology, leadership development, curriculum innovation, public speaking, strategic planning, and academic counseling. By embracing innovation while maintaining a strong commitment to student success, she has transformed the educational experience for both students and faculty. Her ability to combine visionary leadership with practical educational strategies has positioned Philopateer Christian College as a model of excellence, preparing students to excel academically while developing strong character and leadership skills.

Under Ms. Wasfy's leadership, PCC has also signed a series of groundbreaking Memoranda of Understanding with leading international universities, including St. George's University, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences, the British University in Egypt, the European Universities in Egypt, and Galala University. These innovative partnerships move beyond traditional school guidance by connecting students directly with global postsecondary institutions and creating access to specialized academic pathways, scholarships, workshops, mentorship, and early exposure to careers in medicine, pharmacy, health sciences, and other fields. By bringing universities into the secondary-school experience, Ms. Wasfy is helping students see international education as an attainable pathway and equipping them to make informed, confident decisions about their futures.

Her influence as an educational thought leader has also reached audiences around the world through multiple keynote addresses and presentations at global conferences on educational leadership, innovation, and raising the next generation of purpose-driven leaders. She further extends this work through her book, From the Principal's Heart – Volume I, a collection of reflections shaped by more than two decades in education. Through personal insight and practical wisdom, the book encourages educators, parents, and leaders to recognize the lasting power of faith, compassion, perseverance, and purpose in transforming students' lives.

Before embarking on her career path, Phoebe earned a Bachelor of Arts in History and Religious Studies from the University of Toronto in 2002, followed by a Professional Program in Education from D'Youville College in New York in 2004. She has completed additional qualifications in Reading, History, Religious Studies, and Teaching Kindergarten through Grade 12, along with the prestigious Principal Qualification Courses (PQC) in 2011. In 2014, she received her Master of Education from Western University, and in 2019 she completed a Higher Education Teaching Certificate through Harvard University. Her passion for education has earned her numerous distinctions, including the Arab Women of Excellence Award in Academia from the Life Transformation Academy in Calgary, as well as recognition from several Canadian organizations. In 2023, she received Presidential Recognition from the President of Egypt during the National Youth Conference, further highlighting her international impact and leadership.

Throughout her illustrious career, Ms. Wasfy has received numerous prestigious awards recognizing her outstanding contributions to education and leadership. In 2024, IAOTP honored her as Top Principal, Coach, and Speaker of the Year and presented her with the Empowered Woman Award. She was also featured on the iconic Nasdaq Billboard in Times Square, New York City, and had an entire chapter dedicated to her in IAOTP's international bestselling publication, Top 50 Fearless Leaders, Volume 4. Last year, she graced the cover of TIP (Top Industry Professionals) Magazine, further solidifying her reputation as one of today's most influential educational leaders. This December, she will be recognized once again at IAOTP's Annual Awards Gala at the iconic Plaza Hotel in New York City, where she will celebrate her previous selection as Top Educational Leader of the Decade and receive her newest distinction as Top Global Education Visionary & Innovator of the Year for 2026.

Beyond her accomplishments in education, Ms. Wasfy is deeply committed to leadership, mentorship, and global humanitarian initiatives. From 2017 through 2024, she served on the Board of ACSI Eastern Canada and continues to serve as an adjunct faculty member for the Canadian Coptic Centre's Youth Ministry Certification Program (YMCP), in partnership with YouthTrain in New Zealand. Selected to attend the 2018 World Youth Forum in Sharm El-Sheikh, Egypt, she has consistently demonstrated her commitment to empowering young leaders on a global scale. She oversees international youth mission initiatives, collaborates with governments, charitable organizations, and humanitarian agencies, and recently launched the inaugural fundraising campaign supporting Egypt's Decent Life Presidential Initiative, led by a team of inspiring 16- and 17-year-old students. Her leadership continues to inspire the next generation to become compassionate, purpose-driven global citizens.

Looking back, Ms. Wasfy attributes her success to perseverance, an unwavering work ethic, and the mentors who have guided her throughout her journey. Outside of her professional responsibilities, she enjoys traveling and spending quality time with her family. Looking toward the future, she remains dedicated to inspiring aspiring educators and leaders while continuing to transform lives through education, innovation, and visionary leadership.
