

MERENA, Inc. Launches MERENA+, an End-to-End Solution for Managing Everyday Online Safety

Now in Google Play Store, MERENA+ gives users a single dashboard with a safety score, personalized cyber alerts, an interactive action center and much more.

COLORADO SPRINGS, CO, UNITED STATES, August 18, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- MERENA, Inc.,

created to empower individuals with the knowledge, guidance, and solutions necessary to protect themselves online, today announced the availability of MERENA+. The first end-to-end solution in the marketplace, MERENA+ is the next step in understanding and managing online risk, offering more features, more tools, more safety, and more control than the earlier version announced in early summer. Now, for less than the cost of a cup of coffee, individuals can have an agentic AI-powered cyber advisor with even greater capability to protect and manage their online daily life.

In June, MERENA, Inc. debuted MERENA, a first-of-its-kind, agentic AI-powered personal cyber advisor that helps anyone of any age and any level of cybersecurity or technical knowledge manage their online security independently and with confidence. With a growing user base, MERENA has already helped tens of thousands identify their cyber vulnerabilities and eliminate online anxiety. As a paid version, MERENA+ picks up where MERENA started with a more enhanced, end-to-end solution designed for those who truly need and want to understand the vulnerabilities inherent in daily online life, and who want to have greater control in managing their safety.

With MERENA+, users have a dashboard from which they can view their online safety aggregated on one screen across all their online accounts. All alerts are tailored to an unlimited online profile built by the user, and an online safety score helps users quantify and manage their relative risk. MERENA+ automates formerly manual actions, and offers expanded access to tools, such as those that check passwords to detect compromise or elevated risk. Altogether, MERENA+ delivers more features, more tools, more safety and more control — all for a nominal fee that amounts to less than the cost of a cup of coffee each month.

“The timing of MERENA+ couldn’t be better. As kids head back to school and engage more online through school programs and homework, they’re creating accounts and increasing their online footprint — and risk,” said Greg Oslan, CEO, MERENA, Inc. “With MERENA+, individuals of all ages have a trusted and proven partner that quantifies their individual online vulnerabilities and shows them where their risks exist so they can take action and stop cybercrime in its tracks.”

MERENA+ is listed in Google Play Store and is also available today at MERENA.com. A family version of MERENA+ will be available in Q3. For more information, including pricing for MERENA+, please visit MERENA.com.

About MERENA, Inc.

MERENA, Inc. is transforming how individuals protect themselves online. Through a first-of-its-kind personal cyber advisor, MERENA uses agentic AI to deliver clear, practical, and easy-to-follow online safety guidance. The platform provides a single place to manage the risks that come with daily online life, helping people better protect their accounts, devices, identities, and personal information.

Incubated within the National Cybersecurity Center, MERENA launched as an independent public benefit corporation in spring 2026. The company is serving a broad, nationwide user base and building a strong partner network to connect individuals with the knowledge, guidance, and solutions they need to navigate the online world safely and confidently.
