Vault of Educational
Resources for Nonprofits

VERNSM (Vault of Educational Resources for Nonprofits) by BMWL is a client-exclusive digital library that gives nonprofit leaders on-demand access to trusted educational resources, tools, and expert guidance in one centralized platform.

VERN by BMWL provides nonprofit leaders with on-demand access to a wide array of practical, nonprofit-specific educational resources and expertly authored information, all in one centralized, secure platform. By providing immediate access to intuitively accessible, highly accurate, and relevant information created and curated exclusively for them, VERN helps nonprofit leaders spend less time searching for answers and more time advancing their mission.

In a time when it is difficult to know whether information from online sources is trustworthy, BMWL created VERN as a value-added service that gives client organizations highly trusted information and resources quickly and easily accessible to nonprofit leaders.

“Creating and providing world-class information and educational resources is a core part of how we serve nonprofit organizations and their leaders,” said Mike Batts, Managing Partner of BMWL. “VERN takes that commitment to a radically new level by making it easier than ever for our clients to access the insights, tools, and resources they need to make informed decisions with confidence.”

VERN comprises a continually growing library of nonprofit-specific, digitally accessible whitepapers, governance tools, sample policies, sample contribution acknowledgments, checklists, articles, Alerts, commentaries, video recordings, audio recordings, books, and booklets...all expertly developed and curated by BMWL professionals and their trusted partners who work exclusively with nonprofit organizations. Beyond the variety of resource types available, VERN also offers guidance on an extensive range of nonprofit-related topics...featuring over 100 categories! VERN is not an automated or generative AI tool. Every resource is grounded in the firm's deep, real-world experience and professional judgment, giving BMWL clients plain-language, dependable information they can trust.

"VERN represents a seismic shift in how BMWL delivers value-added services to our clients by embedding easily accessible world-class educational information and resources directly into the client service relationship," Batts added. "VERN isn't about information overload. In fact, it's just the opposite. It's a remedy for information overload. It's about having highly trusted educational information and resources that nonprofit leaders need, available in one place, in a format that makes it amazingly easy to find and use."

While access to VERN is exclusive to BMWL client organizations, the firm's broader objective is to support and strengthen the nonprofit sector as a whole – because of the amazing impact nonprofits have on people's lives worldwide. Among the ways BMWL does that are by offering free subscriptions to its Special Alerts to nonprofit leaders, regardless of client status, and by offering publicly available events, web briefings, and books for sale on topics related to nonprofit financial management, oversight, board governance, and professionalism.
