

Evolution Moving Company Named Among the Best Moving Companies in Dallas by Forbes Home

Forbes Home lists the family-owned Dallas mover for its full-service, labor-only, and storage coverage, backed by a 4.9 rating from 3,100+ surveys.

DALLAS, TX, UNITED STATES, August 17, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Evolution Moving Company has been named among the best moving companies in Dallas, Texas by Forbes Home, the home services division of Forbes that evaluates providers through its own editorial review process. The listing places the family-owned company alongside a short group of Dallas providers selected for service range, availability, and customer standards, and identifies its headquarters at 11884 Greenville Ave #100A in North Dallas.

Evolution Moving Company

Forbes Home highlighted the breadth of what the company handles rather than a single specialty. Its editorial write-up points to full and partial moving and storage along with a labor-only option covering local, long-distance, and interstate relocations. That range reflects how the Dallas market actually behaves, where a single household may need packing help one week, a truck and crew the next, and storage in between while closing dates shift.

For Ryan and Cameron Hughey, the brothers who started the company after graduating from Texas State University, the recognition lands on a business that grew from a single Texas branch into a statewide operation. Evolution Moving Company opened in New Braunfels in 2013 and has since expanded into Dallas, Fort Worth, and San Antonio, staying family owned and operated throughout. The Dallas branch now runs as the company's largest metro operation, serving neighborhoods from Deep Ellum and Uptown through Preston Hollow and Lake Highlands across the 75201 to 75248 zip codes.

The Forbes listing is not the only outside review the company has drawn this year. Independent moving research platform Great Guys Moving scores Evolution Moving Company at 9.48 out of 10, an exceptional rating that places it in the top one percent of movers in Texas and names it a top ten mover in Dallas. Separately, moveBuddha's June 2026 analysis of 68 Dallas moving companies gave the company a 4.7 out of 5 composite score with 96 percent positive feedback across 271 verified reviews, and noted a Yelp rating of 4.6 against a market average of 3.2 among the movers it studied.

Those outside numbers track closely with the company's own service record. Evolution Moving Company holds a 4.9 out of 5.0 average across more than 3,100 completed customer surveys and carries a 96 percent referral rate, meaning nearly every household it serves is willing to recommend it. Its Google profile now sits above 1,300 reviews. The company is licensed and insured, and every crew member clears a background check before entering a customer's home.

Operationally, the model is built around removing the guesswork that makes moving stressful. Each customer is assigned a dedicated move coordinator who stays with the job from the first call through the final box. Local moves and moves within Texas are quoted on an all inclusive hourly rate where customers pay only for time actually worked, with trucks, equipment, and home and furniture protection included. Interstate moves are quoted as a binding flat rate based on size and distance, so the final figure is known before anything is loaded. Interest-free financing is also available for households that prefer to spread the cost.

The Dallas team's local knowledge extends into the details that derail moving days elsewhere. Crews regularly coordinate certificates of insurance with downtown high-rise property managers, work within HOA notice requirements in the suburbs, and plan timelines around the corridors that cost the most hours. Alongside residential relocations, the company handles commercial and office moves, piano and specialty item transport, professional packing, secure storage, and labor only moving services in Dallas for customers who have transportation covered but need trained hands for the heavy work.
