

Tidal Town Moving Expands Crew Capacity Across Hampton Roads for Peak Season

Tidal Town Moving adds crews and trucks across Hampton Roads for the late-summer PCS rush. Same-week local availability in Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Chesapeake.

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA, UNITED STATES, August 18, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Tidal Town Moving has expanded its crew and truck capacity across Hampton Roads to meet the late-summer relocation rush, cutting scheduling wait times for households booking during the busiest stretch of the region's moving calendar.

Peak season in Hampton Roads is unforgiving, so we added crews before the rush instead of after it. A family with PCS orders should not be told to wait three weeks.”

Rooke Crouch

The Virginia Beach company added enough moving crews and trucks ahead of August, the point at which military PCS orders, academic-year relocations and lease turnover overlap. The added capacity covers Virginia Beach, Norfolk, Chesapeake, Suffolk, Portsmouth, Hampton, Newport News and Yorktown.

Demand in Hampton Roads does not follow the national pattern. The region holds one of the largest concentrations of active-duty military personnel in the country, and PCS reporting windows push a second wave of household moves into August and September, well after most markets have slowed. Companies that staff to a national calendar run short exactly when local families need them most.

AVAILABILITY AND SCHEDULING

Tidal Town Moving is now booking same-week appointments for most local jobs through the remainder of the season, with weekend and evening slots held for customers working around base reporting dates and closing schedules. As movers in Virginia Beach, the company charges by the hour with a two-hour minimum and adds no travel fees for jobs inside Hampton Roads.

Services covered by the expansion include residential and commercial moving, local and long-distance moves, packing, loading and unloading, furniture assembly, piano moving and senior moving. Long-distance moves reach 48 continental states through third-party freight partners.

Dispatch operates seven days a week. Every booking receives a written confirmation followed by an arrival call on moving day, a step that carries more weight in peak season than at any other time of year, when one delayed job can push an entire day of schedules.

COVERAGE ACROSS THE REGION

The added crews dispatch from the company's Virginia Beach base on North Witchduck Road. Norfolk movers handle downtown high-rise and Ghent-area jobs, where elevator reservations and narrow street access call for crews who already know the buildings. West of the water, a Suffolk moving company crew covers newer subdivisions and rural routes where drive times run longer than a city move suggests.

CREDENTIALS

Tidal Town Moving is licensed by the Virginia Department of Motor Vehicles (License #705) and registered with the Virginia State Corporation Commission (#11306836). The company carries cargo, motor vehicle, and general liability insurance, holds BBB accreditation with an A+ rating, and averages 4.9 stars across nearly 1,200 Google reviews.

Co-owners Rooke Crouch and Josh Wright entered the moving industry in 2015 in South Carolina, where both advanced into management at a company repeatedly recognized by readers of the Greenville News. They founded Tidal Town Moving to apply the same operating standards in Virginia, joined by Operations Manager Avery Crouch.
