difference for those who need it. We've already had a few people in the shop who lost everything, and each time my staff have teared up talking to them. But it's inspiring to hear how positive each person has been, and how thankful they are for their life and their animals," said Anna Hayes (Pittam), Store Manager at Dania Furniture's Spokane location.

Dania Furniture is making essential household items available at reduced prices for the Spokane community impacted by the wildfires. Residents can receive 50% off select mattresses in all sizes and 25% off regular priced pieces. The discounts are intended to help affected people replace essential items as they begin to rebuild their homes following the fires.

The wildfires have damaged nearly 10,000 acres of land and displaced 65,000 residents. Dania Furniture has a history of providing discounts to communities affected by wildfires. Its sister brand, Scandinavian Designs, offered discounts to those affected by the LA and Santa Rosa fires.

"Sometimes, it's the little things that can offer a glimpse of hope and remind everyone that you're not alone. Spokane is a strong community, and when times are difficult, we believe in coming together, supporting one another, and helping our neighbours move forward. Dania Furniture is honoured to stand with Spokane and be there for our community, not just today, but for generations to come," said Mark Gehler, Chief Administrative Officer of Dania Furniture.

Residents can qualify for the discount by presenting a valid local driver's license at the Spokane location. The discount will be available for at least twelve months, giving residents time to purchase products as needed. Terms and conditions apply.
