

Brandon Brown, Acclaimed Criminal Defense and Civil Rights Attorney, Expands His Practice to Personal Injury

CHICAGO, IL, UNITED STATES, August 19, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Brandon Brown Attorney at Law, a respected Chicago trial lawyer known for his work in criminal defense and civil rights litigation, is expanding his practice to serve more personal injury clients throughout Cook County and the greater Chicago area. With a reputation as a relentless litigator and courtroom advocate, Brandon Brown is bringing the same trial-focused, client-centered approach that has defined his legal career to individuals and families harmed by negligence.

With more than 10 years of legal experience and over 1,000 clients served, Brandon Brown Attorney at Law has built a reputation for delivering strategic, trial-ready representation in cases where the outcome can alter a client's future. His practice focuses on personal injury and civil rights, offering clients a rare combination of courtroom strength, community connection, and unwavering commitment to justice.

As a lifelong member of the Chicago community, Attorney Brandon Brown is proud to serve the city he has always called home. That personal connection to Chicago is more than background; it is central to the way he practices law. Brandon Brown understands the concerns of local families, the pressures clients face after serious injuries or legal crises, and the importance of having an advocate who knows both the community and the courtroom.

The firm's expanded personal injury practice is designed to meet the growing needs of injury victims seeking serious representation after life-changing accidents. From motor vehicle accidents to dog bites, premises liability, nursing home abuse, catastrophic injuries, or wrongful death claims, Brandon Brown Attorney at Law is committed to helping clients pursue accountability and recover the compensation they need to move forward.

“Too often, people who have been seriously injured feel overwhelmed, unheard, and pressured to settle for less than they deserve,” said Attorney Brandon Brown. “Our firm is expanding its personal injury practice to give clients in Chicago, Cook County, and across Illinois the kind of strategic representation that prioritizes results and treats every case with the seriousness it deserves.”

Serving Injury Victims with Proven Courtroom Experience

What makes the expansion especially notable is Brandon Brown’s background as a litigator in some of the most challenging areas of law. His work in civil rights and high-stakes criminal defense has involved standing up to government entities, law enforcement, insurers, and other powerful adversaries. That experience has shaped a sharp, disciplined approach to case preparation, negotiation, and trial, one that now further strengthens the firm’s ability to advocate for personal injury victims facing powerful insurance companies and complex legal battles.

Rather than treating injury claims as routine files to be processed, Brandon Brown, Attorney at Law, approaches each matter as a serious fight for justice. The firm understands that behind every injury case is a person whose life may have been disrupted by pain, lost income, mounting medical bills, emotional distress, and uncertainty about the future. Brandon Brown’s expansion into personal injury reflects a broader mission: to protect people when they are most vulnerable and to fight for outcomes that reflect the full extent of their losses.

Serving clients throughout Cook County and across Illinois, Brandon Brown Attorney at Law remains committed to providing accessible, responsive legal representation grounded in both courtroom experience and deep community roots.
