Beaumont is a hard-working region driven by major industry, but when corporate trucking fleets prioritize speed over safety, or industrial operators cut corners on maintenance, families pay the price”

Bridging the Trial-First Gap for the I-10 Freight & Petro Hub

The Golden Triangle serves as a critical transit artery along the Interstate 10 freight corridor and anchors one of the world's largest petrochemical processing hubs. Heavily congested with commercial tractor-trailers, municipal bus systems, and deepwater marine traffic, Southeast Texas sees a disproportionate volume of life-altering crashes and complex premises liability claims.

legal market is heavily saturated by mass-volume billboard operations or "settlement mills." While promising fast cash, these high-volume operations often lack the financial capital, trial resources, or willingness required to go to court, leading to undervalued settlements that leave victims struggling with long-term medical deficits.

"Beaumont is a hard-working region driven by major industry, but when corporate trucking fleets prioritize speed over safety, or industrial operators cut corners on maintenance, innocent families pay the price," said Bill Karns, founding partner. "Karns & Karns is a different breed of advocate. We are not an advertising operation designed to process thousands of claims. We are a Trial-First firm. Our reputation with insurance companies—including trucking carriers and municipal insurers—is built on our willingness to pick a jury. This courtroom power is the single most effective leverage point to demand maximum financial recovery for our clients."

Luis Espinoza, Texas Trial Attorney for Karns & Karns, focusing on core accident and injury claims.

Luis Espinoza, Trial Attorney: Luis, a graduate of Baylor Law School, has dedicated his career exclusively to fighting for injured individuals against massive insurance corporations. Leveraging relentless courtroom advocacy, he has successfully recovered millions of dollars on behalf of his clients.

Veronica De Leon, Trial Attorney: A native Texan and graduate of St. Mary's University School of Law, Veronica possesses the unique advantage of having previously spent years representing defendant insurance companies. She utilizes this insider knowledge to deconstruct complex defense strategies and secure maximum justice for victims of auto, trucking, public transit, and workplace accidents.

Karns & Karns is prepared to handle high-stakes litigation across a comprehensive spectrum of personal injury, including:

18-Wheeler & Commercial Truck Accidents:

Immediate deployment of investigative teams to download black box ECM data and preserve Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) log violations.

Plant, Refinery & Industrial Accidents:

Representation for injured plant workers and contractors following petrochemical fires, chemical releases, equipment collapses, or explosions, moving beyond limited workers' compensation to identify multi-billion dollar third-party liability.

Car, Highway & Rideshare Collisions: Aggressive prosecution of catastrophic crashes on I-10 and US-69/Eastex Freeway involving drunk drivers or distracted commercial operators.

Bus & Public Transit Crashes: Handling complex government tort claims against municipal operators like Beaumont Municipal Transit (BMT) and local school districts.

Wrongful Death Claims: Providing steadfast compassionate guidance and pursuing accountability when negligence results in a family's unthinkable loss.

"Our Beaumont office on Pearl Street isn't just a physical location; it's a statement to corporate insurers that their delay tactics are over," said Mike Karns, founding partner. "When insurance adjusters see our trial team listed on the pleadings, they know we are prepared to litigate. That reputation, backed by decades of courtroom experience and our ability to fund complex multi-year litigation, is what forces major carriers to pay maximum value."
