

Vacation Rental Channel Manager from €10 per Month: DiBooq Launches New Pricing Model

Vacation rental software provider DiBooq has introduced new subscription plans for private hosts and smaller vacation rental businesses.

POTSDAM, BRANDENBURG, GERMANY, August 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hosts listing a vacation rental on Airbnb, Booking.com or Vrbo need to manage rates, availability and reservations across multiple platforms. A vacation rental Channel Manager automatically synchronizes this data, helping hosts prevent double bookings and reduce time-consuming administrative work. “

Professional vacation rental software shouldn't become unaffordable as a business grows. With DiBooq, hosts get powerful tools, 0% booking fees and long-term price certainty.”

Ralf, Founder of DiBooq

For private hosts and smaller vacation rental businesses, however, software costs can quickly add up. With many providers, monthly fees increase significantly with every additional property. Some also charge percentage-based booking fees.

All-in-one vacation rental software provider DiBooq is addressing this challenge with a new pricing model. Its vacation rental Channel Manager is now available from €10 excluding VAT per month with a two-year subscription.

Customers also benefit from a lifetime price lock.

Hosts who prefer a shorter commitment can choose the Basic annual plan from €12 excluding VAT per month. DiBooq does not charge percentage-based booking fees.

Basic Plan from €10 per Month

Under the new two-year subscription, the Basic plan for one property costs the equivalent of €10 excluding VAT per month. Even the entry-level plan includes the core features needed to manage a vacation rental:

- Channel Manager for Airbnb, Booking.com, Vrbo, Expedia, FeWo-direkt and Abritel
- Automatic synchronization of rates and availability
- Reservation management system and PMS
- Web access plus mobile apps for iOS and Android
- Integration with property manager channels
- Email support
- Personal onboarding via video call

This means that even DiBooq's most affordable plan combines technical connectivity to major booking platforms with personal support during setup. According to the company, there are no setup fees. Hosts can also try DiBooq free for 14 days without providing a credit card.

With an annual subscription, the Basic plan for one property costs €12 excluding VAT per month. The annual plan offers a shorter commitment, while the two-year subscription combines the lowest monthly price with a permanent price lock. More information about DiBooq pricing:

Professional Plan for Direct Bookings

For hosts who also want to generate direct bookings and gain deeper insights into their rental performance, DiBooq offers its Professional subscription. For one property, Professional costs €20 excluding VAT per month with an annual subscription. Each additional property costs just €6 per month.

This results in the following monthly pricing for DiBooq Professional:

- One property: €20 per month
- Three properties: €32 per month
- Five properties: €44 per month

In addition to all features included in the Basic plan, Professional comes with a dedicated booking website and a Booking Engine that can be integrated into an existing website. This enables hosts to accept direct bookings and reduce their reliance on major booking platforms.

The Professional plan also includes booking, revenue and occupancy statistics, a guest app, iCal export, video and telephone support, as well as personal assistance via WhatsApp.

Airbnb and Booking.com Optimization Included

A distinctive feature of the Professional plan is the personal optimization of connected booking channels. The DiBooq team reviews, among other factors, the settings and presentation of listings on Airbnb and Booking.com, with the aim of improving their visibility and booking potential.

Depending on the property's starting position, location and overall quality of the listing, DiBooq says this optimization can increase demand by up to 20%. This is not a guaranteed result, however, as actual performance depends on the individual property and prevailing market conditions.

Two-Year Subscription with Lifetime Price Lock

In addition to the lower monthly rate, the lifetime price lock is one of the main advantages of DiBooq's two-year subscription. According to DiBooq, customers receive a Lifetime Price Lock, meaning that the price agreed when the subscription begins remains in place even after the initial two-year period has ended.

The price lock is also intended to cover features that are added to the selected plan in the future. Customers can therefore benefit from ongoing product development without automatically paying more for new features included within their existing subscription tier.

As subscription prices across the software industry are regularly adjusted, the model gives hosts greater long-term cost predictability. According to DiBooq, lifetime price guarantees remain unusual within the vacation rental software market.

Even for a single property, DiBooq Professional is more than 30% less expensive than comparable vacation rental software providers. As the number of properties increases, the absolute savings become greater. In addition, DiBooq does not charge a booking fee, unlike some other SaaS providers.

Fixed Pricing with 0% Booking Fees

DiBooq charges a 0% booking fee across the plans outlined above. Software costs therefore remain independent of both the number of reservations received and the value of those bookings, making ongoing expenses easier to predict.

With commission-based pricing models, by contrast, actual software costs increase with every booking. According to DiBooq, there are also no additional setup fees. Personal onboarding is already included in the Basic plan.

Designed for Small and Growing Vacation Rental Hosts

With its new pricing model, DiBooq is primarily targeting private hosts and smaller professional vacation rental businesses. The Basic plan includes synchronization with major booking platforms, centralized reservation management and personal onboarding. With a two-year subscription, the package is available from €10 excluding VAT per month.

Professional adds direct booking functionality, performance statistics, additional support options and personal optimization for Airbnb and Booking.com.

With each additional property costing just €6 per month on the Professional annual plan, incremental software costs remain manageable as a host's portfolio grows.

The two-year subscription combines DiBooq's lowest entry price with a lifetime price lock. For vacation rental hosts, this means that choosing the right software is no longer only about which features a vacation rental platform provides, but also about how its costs develop across multiple properties and over many years.
