

Convoso Successfully Completes SOC 2® Type 2 Examination

Independent examination underscores Convoso's commitment to strong security practices, operational rigor, and customer trust.

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, August 25, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Convoso, the outbound sales platform for high-velocity, call-driven revenue teams and contact centers, today announced the completion of its SOC 2® Type 2 examination. The independent examination was conducted by Atom Assurances LLC, Convoso's compliance and audit partner.

A SOC 2 Type 2 examination evaluates the design and operating effectiveness of an organization's controls over a defined period of time. For Convoso, completing the examination provides customers and prospects with additional independent assurance around the processes and controls supporting the platform and reflects the company's ongoing investment in security, risk management, and operational best practices.

As we celebrate Convoso's 20th year, completing our SOC 2 Type 2 examination is an important milestone in how we continue to strengthen the company for the future.”

“Trust has always been fundamental to how we serve our customers,” said Nima Hakimi, CEO and Co-Founder of Convoso. “As we celebrate Convoso's 20th year, completing our SOC 2 Type 2 examination is an important milestone in how we continue to strengthen the company for the future. Our customers depend on Convoso to support revenue-critical operations, and this work reflects our commitment to maintaining the security practices and operational discipline they expect as their businesses grow and their requirements become more complex.”

Founded in 2006, Convoso has spent two decades helping call-driven revenue teams improve outbound performance while adapting to an increasingly complex technology, security, and compliance environment. The completion of the SOC 2 Type 2 examination represents another step in the company's ongoing efforts to identify and mitigate risk, strengthen its security practices, and continuously improve the controls and processes supporting its customers.

"This is a significant achievement and reflects your commitment to maintaining the highest standards of security and compliance," said Mr Varun Guptha, Co-Founder of Atom Assurances LLC.

Convoso's SOC 2 Type 2 report is available to qualified customers and prospects under NDA. More information about Convoso's approach to security, privacy, and compliance is available through the Convoso Trust Center.
