

Claudette King Honors Legendary Father B.B. King With New Single 'My Daddy Was A Blues Man' via Banner Records

CHICAGO, IL, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Today, Claudette King released her first single after signing to Banner Records, "My Daddy Was A Blues Man". Written by Bob Dellaposta, the powerful new track offers an intimate journey through the life and legacy of blues icon B.B. King, his beloved guitar Lucille, and the influence they had on Claudette's own path as an artist. The single is available now on all major streaming platforms.

Blending soulful grit with contemporary polish, Claudette brings a deeply personal perspective to the tribute, reflecting on the music, memories and experiences that shaped her. "My Daddy Was A Blues Man" gives listeners a glimpse into Claudette's story while establishing her voice as an artist in her own right.

The heartfelt song was produced under Banner Records by John Anthony and co-producers Ralph Guzzi, Michael J. Winstanley & Nate Campisi. The single showcases King's dynamic vocal range, modern blues production, and a narrative that resonates with longtime blues fans and new listeners alike.

The recording brings together an accomplished ensemble of musicians, featuring longtime Garth Brooks guitarist Chris Leuzinger, drummer George Perilli, who has performed with Michael McDonald and Donna Summer, guitarist Jacob Zang, bassist George Elliot and keyboardist Michael J. Winstanley. Adding another layer of soul and depth, the horn section features Ralph Guzzi, Dan Heasley and Joe Herndon.

As the daughter of one of the most influential musicians in American history, Claudette King has
