

Bitpace Adds USDG Stablecoin Support to Enhance Cross-Border Settlement Infrastructure

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, August 20, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Bitpace, a leading global crypto payment gateway, has announced the integration of the Global Dollar (USDG) stablecoin onto its platform. The addition provides merchants, payment service providers, brokers and real estate businesses with an efficient digital asset option for international invoice processing and cross-border settlement. By introducing USDG support, Bitpace aims to reduce settlement friction and foreign exchange costs for commercial enterprises operating across multiple jurisdictions.

Businesses that manage international transactions frequently encounter operational delays and elevated costs associated with legacy payment systems and traditional cross-border wire transfers often involve multiple intermediary banking partners. Stablecoin technology mitigates these issues by combining blockchain settlement efficiency with fiat-backed value stability.

The addition of USDG aligns with our goal to provide as many payment options for international commerce, enabling businesses to streamline global payment flows.”

Anil Oncu, Chief Executive Officer at Bitpace

USDG is designed as a regulated dollar-backed stablecoin created to facilitate reliable value transfer across blockchain networks without exposure to the price volatility commonly associated with unbacked digital assets. Through the Bitpace platform, clients can leverage USDG without building or maintaining separate liquidity pools, custody frameworks or conversion mechanisms.

The integration allows merchants to incorporate USDG into their existing workflows and checkouts.
