

Tempo® Communications Launches New Website with Online Ordering

U.S. based customers can now shop Tempo tools online and purchase direct from Tempo or through their preferred distributor.

VISTA, CA, UNITED STATES, August 20, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Tempo Communications, a trusted leader in rugged, reliable tools and test equipment for communications and utility professionals, today announced the launch of its newly updated website, www.tempocom.com, now featuring online ordering. The new website gives U.S. based customers a faster, more convenient way to find the Tempo tools they need, access product information and make a purchase.

New and improved www.tempocom.com

For the first time, customers within the United States can shop and order eligible Tempo products directly through Tempocom.com. Those who prefer to purchase through an established distribution partner can continue to do so directly online or through traditional purchasing channels. This gives customers the flexibility to buy tools and test equipment in the way that works best for them.

Chris Hoyt, VP of Sales, Tempo

"Our goal with the new Tempocom.com is simple: make it easier for customers to find the right tool and get it in their hands, however they prefer to buy," said Chris Hoyt, VP of Sales. "Customers now have the flexibility to buy direct or through their trusted authorized distributor without ever leaving our site. It's a win for our customers and a win for our partners."

The redesigned website makes it easier to explore Tempo's portfolio of professional tools and test equipment, review product information and move from product research to purchase without unnecessary steps.

Key improvements include:

- Online ordering for convenient direct purchasing from Tempo for U.S. customers
- Distributor purchasing options for U.S. customers who prefer to buy through their existing supplier
- Improved product navigation to make finding the right tool faster and easier
- A streamlined experience designed for professionals who would rather spend their time on the job than hunting for a place to buy the tool

Customers can explore the new website and begin shopping today at www.tempocom.com.
