

New Punta Mita Villa Rental Website Brings Properties and Destination Resources Into One Place

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, August 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Travelers looking for a private home inside Punta Mita now have a simpler place to start: a dedicated villa collection featuring Forty-five private residences within the gated resort community.

gathers these luxury residences in one place, from smaller condos to large estates with up to nine bedrooms.

Because the collection is focused only on Punta Mita, travelers can compare homes by location, size, setting, and amenities without having to sift through a wider regional rental site.

Our goal was to make Punta Mita easier to plan, giving travelers one place to find the right villa and support for everything that comes with their stay.”

Kate Harris, COO

The idea behind the new collection is pretty simple: make Punta Mita's private-home market easier to sort through. The destination is already known for its resorts, golf courses, beaches, and residential communities, but many of its larger private residences have typically been listed on their own or scattered across several rental channels.

Punta Mita Villa Rentals brings these homes together in one carefully curated place, with concierge support available before you arrive and throughout your stay.

The collection ranges from oceanfront residences to golf-course homes and larger estates that work well for families or groups traveling together. Many properties come with private pools and generous indoor-outdoor living areas, and each home has its own mix of extras, from staff and entertainment spaces to other amenities that make the stay feel more settled.

Guests can also shape the trip around the villa stay itself. The concierge team can help arrange private chefs, ground transportation, yacht charters, wellness experiences, and customized activities, so the practical details don't have to land on your plate once you arrive.

That mix of private accommodation and local support is pretty much how many guests do Punta Mita: settle into a residence as a comfortable home base, then head out for dinners, beach time, golf, boating, and the rest of what the peninsula has to offer.

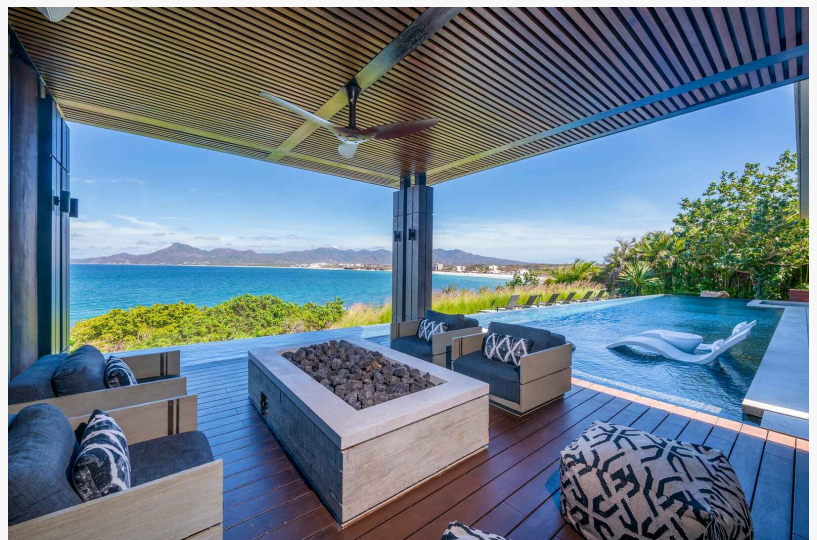

For bigger groups, a private home can change the whole pace of a trip. Everyone gets bedrooms and shared spaces under one roof, and there's more room to shape meals, activities, and services around the schedule that actually works for the group.

The collection now spans 45 residences, including expansive nine-bedroom estates at the top end of Punta Mita's private rental market.

Punta Mita Villa Rentals is backed by the team behind Sun Cabo Vacations, which has specialized in private luxury villa rentals and concierge services in Mexico since 2001.
