

Europe's First Dedicated Prediction Markets Summit Comes to Gibraltar

GIBRALTAR, SPAIN, August 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Introducing Prediction Markets Summit Europe, Europe's inaugural gathering of the prediction markets industry, taking place in Gibraltar on 9 – 10 November 2026.

Produced by Eventus International, Prediction Markets Summit Europe brings together global regulators, platform operators, institutional investors, senior legal experts and technology leaders for two days of high-level discussion, strategic debate and commercial engagement. The summit opens with an exclusive invitation-only networking reception on the evening of 9 November, ahead of the main conference day on 10 November

The choice of Gibraltar is not incidental. In March 2026, the jurisdiction issued its first prediction market licence under the Gibraltar Gambling Act 2005, one of the first dedicated regulatory frameworks of its kind anywhere in Europe, at a time when most jurisdictions remain undecided. Gibraltar's removal from the FATF grey list in 2024 and the introduction of the new Gibraltar Gambling Bill have cemented a regulatory environment that operators, investors and platforms can build on with confidence.

The programme will address European regulatory classification and the implications of MiCA, the role of blockchain and AI in market integrity, cross-border licensing, and the institutional and commercial future of prediction markets as an emerging global asset class. Further details on the agenda, speaker line-up and participation opportunities will be announced in due course.

As prediction markets move from niche innovation to global commercial opportunity, Gibraltar offers a front-row seat to the sector's next chapter. Join the summit to connect with the leaders, regulators and market builders shaping how this industry develops in Europe and beyond.
