

Multi-Award Winning Indie Author Opens Pre-Orders for 95th Published Title

Katie Hornor continues a 13-year independent publishing journey with In the Flow, a faith-centered challenge to stop confusing exhaustion with faithfulness

ORLANDO, FL, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Author, speaker and entrepreneur Katie Hornor has opened pre-orders for her newest book, In the Flow: Living Immersed in God's Rhythm of Grace, scheduled for release November 20, 2026.

The book will become Hornor's 95th published title since 2013, marking another milestone in a prolific independent publishing career built around faith, business, leadership and practical Christian living.

In the Flow addresses a question familiar to high-capacity Christians: when does faithfulness become unnecessary striving?

Hornor (often misspelled Horner) argues that the answer is not simply to do less, but to become more intentional about doing what God has actually assigned.

The book introduces her proprietary FLOW framework, guiding readers to live in the filling of the Holy Spirit, let go of force and control, offer every area of life back to God and worship Him through their work.

"The lesson has been to stop confusing exhaustion with faithfulness," Hornor said while recently teaching the principles behind the book to a live audience. "God does not receive more glory because His people are constantly depleted. There is a better way"

God does not receive more glory because His people are constantly depleted. We need to stop confusing exhaustion with faithfulness. There is a better way.”

The new title is designed for Christians carrying significant responsibilities in business, ministry, leadership, family and creative work who want to approach those assignments with less stress and greater spiritual clarity.

Hornor's publishing record is notable within the independent author community. Since releasing her first titles in 2013, she has built a body of work spanning business strategy, Christian entrepreneurship, devotionals, Bible studies and leadership.

Rather than positioning In the Flow as a book about burnout, Hornor frames it as a broader examination of how Christians discern assignments, walk with God, and work from spiritual filling rather than personal force.

Pre-orders are now available at www.InTheFlowBook.com.

Readers who pre-order through the official book website will receive a bonus package when the book releases November 20, including an autographed first-edition copy, a framable 5x7 FLOW art print and an exclusive Live in the Flow sticker.
