

Nearly 30 Million Americans Now Run a One-Person Business, and Opus Virtual Offices Supports the Trend

Nearly 30 million Americans now run a business of one. Use code SOLO100 to waive the $100 setup fee and give your solo business a professional presence.

Solopreneurs are proving you don't need a team to build something real. What they do need is to look as established as the competition, and that's exactly what we provide.”

leading provider of virtual office solutions with 650-plus locations across the United States, today pointed to a defining shift in the American economy: the rise of the solopreneur. According to U.S. Census Bureau data, 29.8 million Americans now run a business with no employees, accounting for 82% of all small businesses and contributing $1.7 trillion in economic activity.

What has changed is not the willingness to do it alone, but what one person can now credibly run. AI tools have simplified many of the tasks that once forced a founder to hire, from customer support to first-draft content, letting a single owner operate at a scale that used to require a small team. What has not changed is what clients expect to see: a real business address, a phone that gets answered, and a company that looks established, whether it has one employee or fifty.

That is where Opus Virtual Offices comes in. For $99 a month with no long-term contract, solopreneurs get a prestigious commercial business address, a live receptionist answering calls in their company's name Monday through Friday, professional mail handling, and a dedicated business phone and fax number, the full front office of a larger company, run by a business of one. For a limited time, solopreneurs can use promo code SOLO100 to waive the $100 setup fee.
