

The Trinity Restaurant Brings New Orleans Flavor to Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, TN, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A ribbon cutting was held yesterday for Chattanooga's newest restaurant, The Trinity, a New Orleans-inspired eatery in the city's Southside District.

Founded by longtime friends Ken Newburger and Carlitos Fernandez, The Trinity brings the colorful spirit of New Orleans to a growing Chattanooga culinary scene. "Every person from New Orleans has an unspoken mission to take New Orleans to the rest of the world," explained Newburger, a New Orleans native. "The Trinity is my way of sharing a bit of home with everyone."

The Trinity is located at 1278 Market Street in the historic former St. John's Restaurant and St. John's Hotel building, and aims to create a distinct atmosphere that would be right at home down the street from New Orleans staples like Galatoire's, Antoine's, or Commander's Palace.

The restaurant menu features exciting options like:

Étouffée
Grits and grillades
Cajun cassoulet
Beignets
Bananas foster
And classic New Orleans cocktails
