

Cavalier Moving Surpasses 2,000+ Google Reviews Across Richmond Operations

Locally owned moving company earns a 4.9-star average across more than 2,000+ customer reviews, reflecting service quality throughout the Richmond region

RICHMOND, VA, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cavalier Moving, a locally owned moving company serving Richmond, Midlothian, and the surrounding Virginia region, today announced it has surpassed 2,000 Google reviews across its operations, maintaining an average rating of 4.9 out of 5 stars.

The milestone reflects years of steady growth for a company that started as a small, local operation and has since become one of the most recognized names in Central Virginia moving services. Cavalier Moving has built its reputation on hands-on, hometown service for residential and commercial moves, handling everything from single-bedroom apartment moves to full-scale office relocations across the Richmond metro area. Combined with its Midlothian location, which has independently earned more than 165 five-star reviews, Cavalier Moving now ranks among the most reviewed and highest-rated moving companies in the Richmond market.

The company's growth comes at a time when Richmond and its surrounding suburbs, including Chesterfield County, Midlothian, and Henrico, are experiencing sustained population growth as more families and remote workers relocate to Central Virginia. That growth has increased demand for moving companies that can offer both reliability and a personal touch, something Cavalier Moving says has been central to its approach since day one.

"Every one of these reviews represents a family, a business, or a household that trusted us with one of the most stressful days of their year," said Josh Wright, co-owner of Cavalier Moving. "Hitting 2,000 reviews at a 4.9 average isn't something a marketing budget buys. It's built one move, one crew, and one satisfied customer at a time."

Cavalier Moving attributes the milestone to its focus on transparent, upfront pricing, trained and background-checked moving crews, and a customer-first approach that spans local household moves, long-distance relocations, and commercial moving services. Unlike national moving chains that rely on subcontracted labor, Cavalier Moving employs its own crews, a model the company says leads to more consistent service and higher accountability on moving day. The company has steadily grown its footprint across Richmond and Chesterfield County, including a dedicated Midlothian location, while maintaining the same service standards on every job, whether it is a local move across town or a long-distance relocation into the region.

The company also points to its investment in staff training, equipment, and customer communication as key drivers behind the review milestone. Every move is assigned a dedicated point of contact, and crews are trained specifically in handling fragile items, furniture disassembly and reassembly, and packing best practices, details customers frequently cite in their reviews.

As Richmond and its surrounding suburbs continue to see strong population growth, Cavalier Moving says the review milestone reinforces its commitment to being a trusted resource for families and businesses relocating in and around Central Virginia. The company plans to continue expanding its service area and staff in the coming year to keep pace with regional demand.
