Minerals has announced the release of its latest Gold Reserve Program, providing eligible purchasers with a new way to acquire investment-grade physical gold at a fixed discount to the prevailing LBMA Gold Price.

Investment-grade physical gold — the foundation of the Vexillum Gold Reserve Program.

Following the successful subscription of the program's initial allocation, the new release offers two purchase terms:

* 3-month delivery — 5% below the prevailing LBMA Gold Price

The Gold Reserve Program creates a direct relationship between our mining business and gold buyers, while providing a more compelling way for participants to acquire physical gold.”

Vexillum Minerals

The latest release also opens participation to eligible U.S. purchasers for the first time.

In all cases, participants receive physical gold at the end of their selected program term in accordance with the purchase agreement.

Physical Gold With Built-In Downside Protection

The Gold Reserve Program has been designed to address one of the principal concerns associated with purchasing physical gold: what happens if the gold price falls after the purchase?

With a conventional bullion purchase, the buyer typically assumes that market risk immediately. Vexillum's model works differently.

Participants secure physical gold at the applicable discounted price for future delivery. If gold appreciates during the selected term, they have already secured their gold at the lower agreed purchase price.

If the applicable gold price at delivery falls below the participant's protected purchase price, the participant still receives their physical gold and also receives a rebate for the applicable price difference, in accordance with the program terms.

Vexillum supports this downside protection mechanism through exchange-traded put options acquired as part of the program's risk-management structure.

Connecting Gold Production Directly With Gold Buyers

The Gold Reserve Program forms part of Vexillum's broader strategy as it expands its mining portfolio and progresses towards a planned public market listing.

Rather than relying exclusively on conventional wholesale and bullion distribution channels, Vexillum is developing direct relationships with the eventual purchasers of its gold.

By reducing intermediaries between producer and purchaser, Vexillum aims to create value on both sides of the transaction.

Participants gain access to discounted physical gold with downside protection, while Vexillum develops a direct customer base for future production. For the company and its shareholders, establishing a ready market for future production is intended to strengthen Vexillum's commercial position as its mining portfolio expands.

Backed by a Growing Mining Portfolio

Unlike a conventional bullion retailer, Vexillum is building a vertically integrated mining and precious metals business.

The company is expanding a portfolio of gold mining assets and intends to use the value represented by its existing in-ground mineral assets to support the continued development and expansion of that portfolio.

The Gold Reserve Program represents a limited allocation relative to Vexillum's broader resource base and has been structured around the company's planned delivery capacity.

Now Available to U.S. Purchasers

U.S. participants purchase physical gold for physical delivery under the applicable program terms.

Participation begins from one troy ounce. A purchaser's first ounce can be purchased through Vexillum's online checkout, while additional purchases can be completed by bank wire, USDT or USDC.

Physical gold shipments are insured during delivery in accordance with the program terms.

Limited Allocation

The current Gold Reserve Program follows Vexillum's initial allocation, which was fully subscribed.

Once the latest allocation has been fully reserved, Vexillum expects future physical gold sales to revert to standard market pricing. No further public Gold Reserve Program series is currently planned.

About Vexillum Minerals

The company is expanding its mining portfolio while developing an integrated route from mineral resource and production through to the ultimate purchaser of physical precious metals. Vexillum is also progressing plans for a public market listing as part of its long-term growth strategy.
