

Green Revolution CBD Introduces Streamlined THC-Free CBD Collection

SEATTLE, WA, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Green Revolution CBD has introduced a streamlined collection of THC-free CBD products, expanding its offerings for consumers who prefer cannabinoid products without THC.

The collection includes CBD gummies, water-based CBD tinctures, topical CBD cream, and a CBD tincture formulated for pets. The products are designed to provide several format options while maintaining a consistent focus on THC-free formulations.

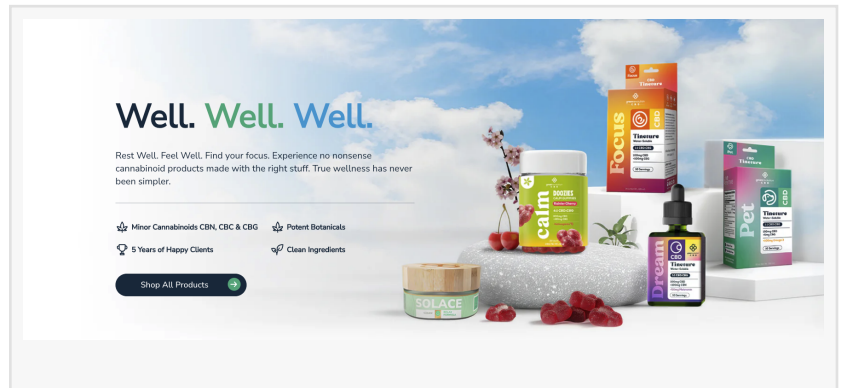

Founded in 2015 as a tincture-focused company, Green Revolution CBD later expanded into edible production and additional cannabinoid product categories. The new collection reflects the company's effort to apply that formulation experience to a more focused range of CBD products.

Green Revolution CBD states that the products are made with naturally derived ingredients and do not contain artificial fillers or synthetic additives. Product labels provide information about ingredients, suggested use, and cannabinoid content so consumers can evaluate the available options.

The company also uses its UNET nano-emulsion process in select products. Rather than positioning the technology around a specific onset time or promised result, the company describes it as part of its broader formulation and manufacturing approach.

The introduction of the collection comes as Green Revolution CBD continues refining its product catalog and providing options for consumers who avoid THC because of personal preference or sensitivity.

Product details, ingredient information, and formulation specifications are available through the company's official website.
