FUEL50 WINS BRONZE STEVIE® AWARD FOR PEOPLE-SCIENCE-BACKED AGENTIC AI

Fuel50 earns a Bronze Stevie Award for its people-science-backed, governance-first approach to responsible agentic AI and enterprise workforce transformation.

2026 Stevie Winner for Technology Excellence

LAGUNA NIGUEL, CA, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Fuel50 has been named the winner of a Bronze Stevie® Award in the Domain Specific AI Platform of the Year category in the third annual Stevie Awards for Technology Excellence.

The Stevie Awards for Technology Excellence celebrate the remarkable accomplishments of individuals, teams, and organizations shaping the future of technology across all industry sectors.

More than 700 nominations from organizations of all sizes in 37 nations and territories were submitted this year for consideration in a wide range of technology-related categories. Fuel50 is a winner in the Domain Specific AI Platform of the Year category for its people-science-backed approach to agentic AI and enterprise workforce transformation.

The official winning entry, “Fuel50: People-Science-Backed Agentic AI, Built for Enterprise Governance,” reflects an approach to enterprise AI that is domain-specific rather than generic, grounded in people science, transparent in how it supports workforce decisions, and designed with enterprise governance in mind.

Judges described Fuel50 as presenting “a highly compelling domain specific AI platform with strong enterprise adoption, measurable workforce outcomes, independent AI bias audits, and governance first agentic AI built on validated people science models.”

Another judge called the entry “a compelling example of how agentic AI can be applied

> Our people-science-backed approach is designed to make AI more explainable, more responsible, and more human-centric for the enterprise. ” responsibly in a sensitive and highly human-centered domain,” highlighting Fuel50’s approach of using the LLM as the conversational interface while keeping decision logic grounded in validated skills models, industrial-organizational psychology, business rules, and fairness controls.
>
> Anne Fulton, CEO and Co-Founder of Fuel50

A further judge noted that Fuel50 “makes a brilliant case for domain-specific AI by proving how deeply embedding I/O psychology and rigorous third-party bias audits creates trustworthy, enterprise-grade HR tech.”

“This recognition is meaningful because it validates not only what our technology can do, but how it is built,” said Anne Fulton, CEO of Fuel50. “Our people-science-backed approach is designed to make AI more explainable, more responsible, and more human-centric for the enterprise. The recognition reinforces Fuel50’s commitment to building AI that is grounded in people science and designed for responsible enterprise governance.”

More than 180 professionals worldwide participated in the judging process to select this year’s honorees.

“We congratulate all of the winners in the third annual Stevie® Awards for Technology Excellence for their outstanding achievements,” said Stevie Awards President Maggie Miller. “Their innovations are helping shape the future of technology across every industry, and we look forward to celebrating their success on October 28.”

Details about the Stevie Awards for Technology Excellence and the list of 2026 Stevie winners are available at http://Tech.StevieAwards.com.

About Fuel50

Fuel50 is the award-winning Workforce Transformation Platform powering how enterprises understand, activate, and evolve their talent. Built for enterprises transforming with people, not around them, Fuel50 provides the intelligence to see workforce capability, gaps, aspirations, and internal potential, and the activation system to move employees into the roles, projects, learning, mentoring, and career pathways the business needs next. With Fuel50, organizations can reinvent, redeploy, retain, and reactivate talent at scale, reducing dependency on external hiring and disruptive restructuring while keeping the people who make transformation possible. Fuel50 partners with leading enterprises to build more agile, resilient, and future-ready workforces.

About the Stevie Awards

The Stevie® Awards, widely recognized as the world's premier business awards, are nicknamed the Stevies, derived from the Greek word stephanos, meaning "crowned." The Stevie Awards are conferred through nine programs: the Asia-Pacific Stevie Awards, the German Stevie Awards, the Middle East & North Africa Stevie Awards, The American Business Awards®, The International Business Awards®, the Stevie Awards for Great Employers, the Stevie Awards for Women in Business, the Stevie Awards for Technology Excellence, and the Stevie Awards for Sales & Customer Service.

The Stevie Awards receive more than 12,000 nominations each year from organizations in more than 70 nations. Honoring organizations of all types and sizes and the people behind them, the Stevies recognize outstanding performances in the workplace worldwide. Learn more about the Stevie Awards at http://www.StevieAwards.com.

Ashley Levesque
Fuel50
email us here
Visit us on social media:
LinkedIn

This press release can be viewed online at: https://www.einpresswire.com/article/936603886

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.
© 1995-2026 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.