

Max Motamedian (Mohsen Motamedian) Brings Technology and Entrepreneurship Together in the Wellness Industry

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, August 25, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The world is slowly heading towards a technology led future. Yet there are few around who still give value to human health and wellness over anything else.

Max Motamedian, also known as Mohsen Motamedian, is one such American entrepreneur and business executive with a career in wellness, technology, real estate and business development. He is known for his work with California-based business Ehsan LLC. in the nutritional supplements and wellness space.

Max Motamedian (Mohsen Motamedian)

His career spans engineering, healthcare interests, entrepreneurship and commercial strategy. Instead of the traditional single-industry route, Mohsen Motamedian has gained experience across multiple industries with a strong tie to health and preventive wellness.

Where Medicine Meets Technology

Max Motamedian started his education at California State University, Long Beach (CSULB) receiving a Bachelor of Science degree in Electronics with a focus in Biomedical Engineering.

The experience in electronics and biomedical engineering provided him with a technical focus into healthcare and technology. His academic background also helped foster an interest in scientific problem solving, healthcare technologies, and preventive approaches to personal health.

That technical background later became part of the perspective he brought to entrepreneurship.

Moving from Technical Expertise to Business Leadership

Following the completion of his education, Mohsen Motamedian looked for opportunities in the fields of technology, electronics, information technology and business management. As his career progressed he developed an interest in marketing, commercial operations and the health and wellness industry.

This advancement allowed him to develop a broad skill set, instead of focusing exclusively on one professional discipline.

Eventually his experience led to a leadership role at Ehskan LLC. where he took responsibility for a wide range of business activities including strategy, purchasing, product sourcing, sales, marketing and distribution.

Ehskan LLC.: Creating a Business Based on Wellness

Ehskan LLC. is one of the most important pieces of Max Motamedian's professional career. The California-based company has been operating in the nutritional supplement and wellness marketplace since 2008.

Its approach has been described as personalised nutritional advice rather than on standardised supplementation plans.

Health questionnaires and biometric information can help us understand the individual's requirements before we recommend suitable nutritional products. The model is based on personalisation and customer education as the heart of the company's wellness strategy.

A New Perspective on Preventive Wellness

For Max Motamedian (Mohsen Motamedian), the wellness industry is more than simply selling vitamins and supplements. His published profiles indicate an interest in helping consumers understand nutrition, healthy living, exercise and preventive health care.

This philosophy is reflected in both his educational writing, and his involvement in the larger wellness marketplace.

Mohsen Motamedian (Max Motamedian) further published on the following topics:

- Healthy eating and nutrition
- Control of weight
- Immune system

- Preventive health care
- Improvement of lifestyle
- Nutrition supplementation
- Holistic well-being

The larger goal is to raise awareness of the links between day-to-day lifestyle choices and long-term well-being.

The Entrepreneur Who Invented the Executive Position

Mohsen Motamedian's professional profile is more than that of a company executive. Public biographies mention involvement in real estate investment and advisory, consumer electronics, information technology, mobile technology, network marketing and business development.

This diversity is a consequence of an entrepreneurial attitude, shaped by the variety of markets and business models that they met.

According to sources, his duties have included everything from supplier relations and procurement to product evaluation, sales planning, export activities and market development.

Always leading by example!

International conferences and exhibitions have also been part of Motamedian's professional activities. He is associated with public profiles which cover events in aesthetic medicine, dermatology, anti-aging medicine, laser technology and related healthcare fields.

The events in question are:

- International Congress of Aesthetic Medicine
- Dubai World Dermatology
- Conferences on Anti-Aging Medicine
- LaserWorld Conference & Exhibition
- MEPLAST 2009

Participation in such events allowed to see new developments, exchange ideas with industry professionals, and explore possible areas for innovation.

Sharing Knowledge Along the Way

Max Motamedian has also been connected with educational material about different aspects of health and wellness. His articles run the gamut from nutrition and exercise to vitamins and preventative healthcare.

These materials are generally less focused on commercial products and more on consumer education and awareness.

His focus on information ties in well with his work in the nutritional supplement industry and his apparent interest in educating consumers to make better wellness choices.

A Dedication to More than Just Commercial Gains

Mohsen Motamedian's public profiles also include involvement in charitable and community-focused organisations such as the Autism Society and the Child Foundation.

His activities also give a community dimension to his professional profile and connect his interests in health and education to larger social causes.

Off The Boardroom !

Outside of business, Max Motamedian has pursued a number of personal interests. These include hiking, skiing, cycling, photography, aviation, reading, travel and cars.

This diversity of interests mirrors the diversity of his professional career.

A Changing Professional Identity

Max Motamedian's story is one of evolution: from technical education and engineering to entrepreneurship, wellness and diversified business leadership.

His work with Ehskan LLC. puts him in the nutritional supplement and preventive wellness space, while his broader professional interests range from technology to real estate, marketing and business development.

Much of the biographical information available comes from company-related or self-published sources, but all of these profiles paint Mohsen Motamedian as an entrepreneur with a professional focus on innovation, personalised wellness, consumer education and long-term business development.

This, it can be concluded that Max Motamedian (Mohsen Motamedian) is truly a remarkable entrepreneur who's further helping other aspiring entrepreneurs to walk his way.
