

Rabbit Hole Media Lab Brings Content Production and Events Together in East Austin

Rabbit Hole Media Lab brings professional content production, coworking, and private events together in one creative East Austin studio and venue.

AUSTIN, TX, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Rabbit Hole Media Lab brings studio recording, video production, audio, editing, memberships, coworking, and private events together under one roof in East Austin. The space is designed for founders, creators, brands, executives, podcasters, and storytellers who want access to a professional production environment from planning through delivery.

At the center is a cinematic studio equipped with Blackmagic 6K full-frame cameras, DZO cine lenses, Aputure lighting, professional audio, modular sets, custom lighting, and a soundproofed recording environment. Sessions can include raw 6K or 4K footage, live-switched edits, color correction, audio correction, and same-day or next-day delivery.

Producer-led sessions add another layer to the process. Clients can receive support with hooks, talking points, pacing, presence, and take review while recording. That structure allows speakers to stay with the message instead of managing cameras, sound, lighting, and production logistics in the room.

Rabbit Hole Media Lab also supports clients who need more than a single recording block. Done-with-you content packages can combine pre-session planning, guided outlines or scripts, studio production, long-form videos, short-form clips, captions, transcripts, content calendar guidance, and distribution planning.

Post-production extends beyond the studio session. Podcast editing options range from live-switched base delivery to branded and premium edits with intros, outros, lower thirds, music, B-roll, motion graphics, and visual polish. Brand and social editing covers testimonials, event recaps, educational videos, founder content, interviews, campaign assets, Reels, Shorts, and social cutdowns.

The East Austin facility can support:

- Podcast recordings and interview series
- Founder and executive videos
- Brand and social content
- Course and educational production
- Testimonials and campaign assets
- Content days and workshops
- Product launches and networking events
- SXSW activations and private gatherings

For audio-only work, the treated sound booth supports recording with a dedicated engineer, professional microphones, monitored levels, raw WAV masters, and same-day file delivery. Additional audio services include cleanup, mastering, music and sound design, audiobook preparation, course narration, guided meditations, and full podcast production.

Memberships are structured for recurring access rather than one-time use. House and Creator members receive coworking access, preferred studio rates, event benefits, community access, curated introductions, and selected studio hours each month. Creator members also receive dedicated Studio Content Support during recording.

Event use extends the facility beyond scheduled recording sessions. Brand events, founder gatherings, workshops, networking events, product launches, content days, podcast recordings, and SXSW activations can take place across the East Austin space. Half-day and full-day buyouts are available, with production support for interviews, podcast episodes, social clips, and other material captured during the gathering.

Clients can also work within a designed environment that includes curated backdrops, multiple lighting options, a private green room, guest lounge, meeting and strategy spaces, complimentary refreshments, and room for collaborators. Branding can be incorporated throughout the space, allowing clients to make the environment feel like an extension of their own brand and create a cohesive experience for their guests, teams, or community.

Separate meeting, conference, and lounge spaces give teams room to prepare talent, review takes, hold strategy sessions, and move into follow-up conversations without leaving the facility. This allows production, collaboration, and event activity to happen within one connected space.

Studio bookings are available by the hour or through multi-hour packs, while memberships, venue rentals, post-production, audio services, coaching, and content packages are offered according to project scope. For current availability, booking requirements, or production details, please refer to the contact information below.
