As the first in-person ROTH conference of the fall season, I have no doubt ROTH will continue its pattern of delivering an exceptional experience for investors and companies.”

David Shapiro, CEO of B2i Digital, Inc.

ROTH built the program around time with management: 25-minute 1-on-1 and small group meetings that put institutional clients in front of C-level executives from public healthcare companies across biotech, life science tools and diagnostics, and medtech.

Meetings run from 8:00 AM to 4:30 PM. On the panel side, Frontiers in Neuroscience brings together Annovis Bio, CervoMed, Gain Therapeutics, MediciNova and ProMIS Neurosciences. Dr. Frank Lichtenberg, Professor Emeritus of Healthcare Management at Columbia University, speaks on The Economics of Drug Value: What It Means for Pricing and Coverage. The Biotech Reset panel covers regulatory uncertainty, capital constraints and the search for value, with Kendall Square Policy Strategies, PolyPid and Newron Pharmaceuticals.

The Rise of MRD Monitoring in Solid Tumors, and Where it Goes Next features Biodesix, DeciBio and Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center.

"As the first in-person ROTH conference of the fall season, I have no doubt ROTH will continue its pattern of delivering an exceptional experience for investors and companies. I look forward to catching up with everyone, meeting with some new companies and sitting in on the panels. To be honest, and I always am, I often skip the panels to work the room, but these topics may get me to sit still," said David Shapiro, Chief Executive Officer of B2i Digital.
