

Poshy Porch Expands Full-Service Seasonal Decorating Across the Treasure Valley

Treasure Valley company handles seasonal design, sourcing, installation, takedown and optional storage for homes and businesses

BOISE, ID, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- BOISE, Idaho — Poshy Porch, one of the Treasure Valley's first dedicated seasonal porch decorating services, is growing its full-service decorating options for homeowners and businesses throughout Boise, Meridian, Eagle and surrounding communities. Founded by Michelle Walker in 2024, Poshy Porch began with a focus on custom pumpkin porch decorating and now provides seasonal design throughout the year, handling everything from design and sourcing to installation, takedown and optional storage.

The service is designed for people who enjoy a thoughtfully decorated home or business but may not have the time, storage space or desire to manage seasonal décor themselves. Poshy Porch serves homeowners as well as hotels, colleges, restaurants, offices, event venues and other businesses seeking seasonal displays tailored to their spaces.

Fall and pumpkin porch decorating remain a central part of Poshy Porch's services. Clients can select from established fall packages, add custom Halloween decorating or request a design created specifically for their property. The company also creates custom installations for Christmas and winter, spring, summer and patriotic holidays, along with weddings, parties and other events.

"We want our customers to feel like family," said Michelle Walker, owner of Poshy Porch. "We stick to what we say and keep our promises. We stand by our word."

Walker brings a background in real estate and interior design to the company, along with a longtime interest in decorating her own home for different seasons and holidays. She turned that interest into Poshy Porch in August 2024, creating customized porch and entryway designs for residential and commercial clients throughout the Treasure Valley.

The company's approach also emphasizes connections with other local businesses and agricultural producers. Poshy Porch sources pumpkins exclusively from Cherry Hill Farm Inc. in Caldwell and works with local nurseries and farms to purchase trees, flowers and other natural elements used in its designs. After displays are removed, plants and pumpkins can be donated to farms to feed animals rather than simply being discarded.

"Our repeat clients become our community," Walker said. "We build community with the farms and nonprofits that we donate to as well."

In addition to residential decorating, Poshy Porch works with commercial properties that want their entrances and customer-facing spaces updated throughout the year. The company currently decorates multiple locations for commercial clients and can develop recurring seasonal designs based on a property's dimensions, branding and needs.

Poshy Porch also collaborates with the businesses it serves, creating opportunities to feature one another through social media and help introduce customers to other local businesses. Realtors can arrange decorating packages for clients who have purchased homes, while custom installations are available for hotels, colleges, weddings, parties and event venues.

Clients can choose from established seasonal packages when available or request a fully customized design. Poshy Porch can shop for products and create a design specifically for the dimensions of the client's space. The company also maintains higher-end design pieces available for rent, reducing the amount of seasonal décor clients need to purchase and store themselves.
