

Complete Outdoor Living and ColorCraft Host Inaugural Charity Golf Tournament Benefiting Matthew's Hope

ORLANDO, FL, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Complete Outdoor Living and its parent company, ColorCraft, recently hosted their inaugural Charity Golf Tournament at West Orange Country Club, bringing together more than 20 golfers, along with employees, clients, partners, and members of the local business community for a day of golf, networking, and giving back.

The event benefited Matthew's Hope, a Winter Garden-based nonprofit organization dedicated to serving individuals and families experiencing homelessness through outreach, recovery programs, job assistance, and essential support services.

Throughout the day, participants enjoyed friendly competition on the course while supporting a cause that makes a meaningful difference throughout Central Florida. Thanks to the generosity of sponsors, golfers, and supporters, the tournament generated proceeds that will directly support Matthew's Hope's ongoing mission. To further maximize the event's impact, Complete Outdoor Living and ColorCraft matched participant donations, increasing the overall contribution to the organization.

"Our companies have always believed that success means giving back to the communities that support us," said Doug Hughes, CEO of ColorCraft and Complete Outdoor Living. "Hosting this tournament was an opportunity to bring together our employees, clients, partners, and friends for a great day while supporting an organization that's making a real impact in the lives of people right here in our community."

The event marks the beginning of what Complete Outdoor Living and ColorCraft intend to make an annual tradition, creating opportunities to strengthen community partnerships while supporting local nonprofit organizations.

"The response to our first tournament exceeded our expectations," said Joe Aquila, CMO of ColorCraft and Complete Outdoor Living. "More importantly, it reminded us how much can be accomplished when our community comes together around a common purpose. We're already looking forward to making next year's event even bigger."

Complete Outdoor Living and ColorCraft extend their sincere appreciation to every participant who helped make the tournament a success, as well as the team at West Orange Country Club for hosting the event.
