

Sean Lovison Supports National Park Foundation Through Champions Society

Purpose Built Financial Services Founder Sean Lovison extends his commitment to environmental stewardship by supporting preservation of America's national parks

PHILADELPHIA, PA, UNITED STATES, August 24, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Sean Lovison, CFP®, CPA, and founder of Purpose Built Financial Services, has made a contribution to the National Park Foundation (NPF) through its Champions Society, supporting efforts to protect and preserve America's national parks for future generations.

The National Park Foundation's Champions Society brings together individuals committed to the long-term preservation of the country's natural and cultural resources. Members provide annual financial support that helps fund conservation initiatives, educational programs, restoration of historic sites, and projects designed to improve visitor experiences and access to the outdoors.

Lovison's support reflects a broader commitment to environmental responsibility and purposeful giving. As a financial professional and business owner, he has sought opportunities to support organizations working toward sustainable, long-term impact. His firm, Purpose Built Financial Services, is also a committed member of 1% for the Planet, a global network that encourages businesses to support environmental organizations.

"National parks are something we all get to share, but protecting them requires an ongoing commitment," said Lovison. "I'm happy to support the National Park Foundation and the work they're doing to preserve these places so that families can continue experiencing them for generations to come."

Through the Champions Society, supporters help the National Park Foundation address needs across the national park system. Contributions can help preserve biodiversity, protect landscapes and wildlife, restore important cultural and historic resources, expand educational opportunities, and strengthen connections between communities and public lands.

For Lovison, the contribution aligns with his belief that thoughtful planning extends beyond personal and financial goals and can also include considering the impact individuals and businesses have on the communities and environments around them.

The National Park Foundation serves as the official nonprofit partner of the National Park Service, working with supporters and partners to protect national parks and connect people with these places.

Sean Lovison, CFP®, CPA, is the founder of Purpose Built Financial Services. Before entering the financial planning profession, Lovison built a career in corporate finance and rose to the role of Chief Financial Officer at a company generating more than $500 million in annual revenue. In 2020, he transitioned into personal financial planning, eventually founding Purpose Built Financial Services to work with professionals and entrepreneurs pursuing financial independence. His approach draws on his experience in corporate finance, entrepreneurship, and financial planning to help clients build strategies aligned with their long-term goals and values.
