The victory represents more than another medal for Pearce. It is the culmination disciplined training, sacrifice and steady development in one of the country's fastest-growing high school sports. “Representing Team USA was an incredible honor,” Pearce said. “Stepping onto the mat knowing I was competing for something bigger than myself gave me even more motivation. Winning first place showed me that the work, sacrifices and challenges have all been preparing me for opportunities like this.”

From San Diego to the International Stage

Pearce has established herself as one of Southern California's most promising young wrestlers through her physical strength, technical ability and relentless competitive mindset. Competing for Rancho Bernardo High School in San Diego, she has continued to test herself against high-level opponents throughout California and across the country. Her recent accomplishments include a fifth-place finish at the 2026 California state championships, championship-level performances in the San Diego Section and an expanding résumé of national tournament competition.

Her results reflect an athlete who is not afraid of difficult brackets, unfamiliar opponents or high-pressure moments. Ranked 13th in the nation by Sports Illustrated, Chloe brings an uncommon level of discipline to her training, balances the responsibilities of being a student-athlete and represents her school, community and country with maturity.

Those qualities have helped position her as a compelling emerging voice within girls' wrestling. "Wrestling has taught me how to remain focused when things get uncomfortable," Pearce said. "You learn how to respond after a difficult match, how to keep working when nobody is watching and how to believe in yourself before everyone else sees what you are capable of."

Building Momentum for the 2026–2027 Senior Season

With her senior season approaching, Pearce is entering a pivotal period in her athletic journey. Her goals include competing for a California state championship, continuing to succeed at national-level events and positioning herself for opportunities to wrestle collegiately. She also hopes her journey can encourage younger girls — especially those in San Diego — to enter the sport with confidence.

Girls' wrestling has provided Pearce with a platform to demonstrate strength, determination and leadership. She wants young athletes watching her career to understand that they belong in competitive spaces and that success can be built through patience, resilience and consistent effort. "I want younger girls to see that they can compete at the highest level," Pearce said. "You do not have to wait for someone else to give you confidence. You earn confidence by putting in the work and continuing to show up."

An Emerging NIL and Sponsorship Opportunity

Pearce offers potential partners the opportunity to support an accomplished American student-athlete at a defining moment in her career. Ideal partnerships include athletic apparel and footwear companies, health and wellness brands, women-led companies and national brands committed to expanding opportunities for female athletes.

Pearce's story provides brands with a meaningful combination of elite performance, international experience, personal discipline and community impact. "I would like to work with sponsors who believe in what I am building and who want to be part of the journey,” Pearce said.

For Pearce, the gold medal earned in China is not the conclusion of her story. It is a signal of what may be ahead. As she prepares for the upcoming season, the mission is compete for championships, earn the opportunity to wrestle at the collegiate level and continue building a name that reaches far beyond Southern California. She's now one of the country's next top athletes to watch.
