bringing the tradition, craftsmanship, and artistry of luxury handcrafted bamboo fly rods to Utah. Located in Heber City, Rivercraft Rodsmiths creates custom, high-end bamboo fly rods by hand while also offering immersive classes that teach anglers and craftspeople the traditional art of building these remarkable rods.

Bamboo fly rods are celebrated for their beauty, precision, craftsmanship, and distinctive casting experience. At Rivercraft Rodsmiths, each rod is crafted with close attention to detail, combining time-honored techniques with the individual preferences and style of each client. In addition to producing custom bamboo fly rods, Rivercraft Rodsmiths invites others to experience the craft firsthand through two immersive educational offerings. The 2-day novice class introduces participants to the fundamentals of traditional bamboo fly rod making in a hands-on setting, providing an accessible introduction to this historic craft.

For those seeking a deeper and more comprehensive experience, the company also offers a weeklong master class, where participants receive in-depth instruction and hands-on guidance through the intricate process of building their own bamboo fly rod. From the careful preparation and shaping of bamboo to the detailed craftsmanship involved in creating a finished rod, students gain an appreciation for the patience, precision, and artistry behind every handmade piece.

“We are so excited to bring the art of luxury hand-crafted bamboo fly rods to Utah,” said Ken Roderman, owner of Rivercraft Rodsmiths. “There is something truly special about taking raw bamboo and transforming it, step by step, into a beautiful and functional work of art. We are thrilled to not only create these exceptional rods for our clients, but also to share the traditional techniques and craftsmanship with others through our hands-on classes.”

Rivercraft Rodsmiths aims to create an experience that extends beyond fly fishing. The company's custom rods and educational programs are designed for anglers, collectors, craftsmen, and anyone who appreciates the heritage of handmade goods and the satisfaction of creating something lasting with their own hands.

With its new home in Heber City, Rivercraft Rodsmiths is helping preserve and share one of fly fishing's most iconic traditions while introducing a new generation of enthusiasts to the enduring art of bamboo rod making.
