

Janicki Industries Appoints Bob Devoe as Vice President for Contracts, Supply Chain and Government Compliance

SEDRO-WOOLEY, WA, WA, UNITED STATES, August 26, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Janicki Industries, a privately owned engineering and manufacturing company, today announced that Bob Devoe has joined the company as vice president overseeing contracts, supply chain and government compliance as the company continues to scale its aerospace and defense manufacturing capacity across Washington, Utah and its new Great Falls, Montana campus.

Devoe brings more than three decades of business and financial leadership in the aerospace and defense industry, most recently as vice president for business management and division CFO for Northrop Grumman's Aeronautics Systems Strike Division, where he led business operations across a $5 billion-plus portfolio.

During his 30 years at Northrop Grumman, Devoe held progressively senior roles in program business management, financial planning and analysis, and contracts, supporting major U.S. government programs including F/A-18, E-2D and B-21, and advanced development and capture efforts. He also served as vice president, finance and CFO for EADS Aeroframe Services, a joint venture between Northrop Grumman and EADS.

"Bob's depth of experience managing complex, multi-billion-dollar government contracts and building disciplined financial and operational processes is exactly what we need as we continue to expand our operations," said John Janicki, president of Janicki. "He brings a level of program and contracts rigor that will serve our customers and our team well as we scale."

John Janicki noted that the company recently broke ground on an $800 million campus in Great Falls, Montana, which will significantly expand the organization's production capacity.
