

Elliot Vaughn Confirms Prescription Lenses on Best-Selling Frames for Fall 2026

Elliot Vaughn will make each prescription pair to order in 10 to 12 days, with prices expected to start near $150, sold direct from elliotvaughn.com.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, August 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Elliot Vaughn, the independent eyewear brand that makes the Juliette Cat-Eye and the Capri Link, will offer prescription glazing on its best-selling frames from fall 2026. Prices are expected to start near $150 and will vary by lens specification. Elliot Vaughn sells direct, with no wholesaler or retailer in between.

Prescription options are rarely offered on independent frames. That leaves anyone who needs vision correction choosing between what an optician happens to stock and a frame they would actually pick. Elliot Vaughn is closing that gap on its own catalogue.

Inside the Elliot Vaughn collection: an independent label built on restraint

The label sells only through elliotvaughn.com, under three words it puts on its own homepage: restraint, discretion, intention. Its frames come from shapes people already know, like the narrow cat-eye and the linked metal temple, and the detail work is meant to be seen up close rather than across a room.

Elliot Vaughn's range follows the shapes that recur in its own order book. Cat-eye and rounded frames come first. The Juliette Cat-Eye, the Bellina Loop, the Riviera Cat-Eye and the Paris Retro are all cut narrow and sit close to the face. The Paris Retro adds polarized lenses on a corrosion-resistant alloy bridge. Metal-temple frames follow. The Capri Link carries a gold-tone chain-link hinge at the temple joint, and the Rothwell Round Metal Shades are hand-finished acetate over an internal metal support. The Veyra Aviator, the Monaco Minimalist and the Echelon Luxe Rimless Shades cover the aviator, sculpted-metal and rimless builds. Most Elliot Vaughn sunglasses carry UV400 lens protection, including the Juliette Cat-Eye, the Capri Link, the Rothwell and the Veyra Aviator.

The packaging gets the same attention as the frame. Every order ships in a turquoise hard case with gold lettering, and includes a microfiber cloth, an authenticity card and a guarantee card with a serial number, valid internationally. Orders leave within one to two working days, ship worldwide, and can be returned for 30 days. Shipping is free over $119.99. Orders over $79.99 include a premium travel pouch.

The label has a 4.6 out of 5 rating on Trustpilot. Reviewers there keep returning to the same points: how the frames are built, how they fit, and the case they arrive in. The full set is on the Elliot Vaughn Trustpilot profile and the Elliot Vaughn customer reviews page.

"Thousands of customers have asked us about prescription. It has been the most common question we get, since we started. You can buy a frame worth wearing or a frame you can see through, and hardly ever the same frame. We did not want to keep making people pick."
