

Dispatchly AI Launches Dispatchly Rescue, Giving Home-Service Businesses 12 Months of Its AI-Native Platform Free

Dispatchly Launches "Dispatchly Rescue," Offering Eligible Home-Service Businesses 12 Months Free on Its AI-Native Platform

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, August 26, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Dispatchly is an AI-native platform that brings a home-service company's front office, field operations, and customer communication into one system. It includes an AI receptionist that answers calls and books jobs, along with estimates, photo estimates, invoicing, scheduling, business IVR, AI speed-to-lead, marketing, payroll, and an AI-built website.

"Small contractors are paying for a scheduling tool, then paying again for a separate answering service, then paying again for an AI add-on, and none of it talks to each other," said David Liu, founder of Dispatchly AI. "Rescue is our way of making it easy for the businesses that feel that pain to consolidate onto one platform without a large upfront cost."

How the program works

Dispatchly Rescue is available to U.S. home-service businesses that have maintained a paid subscription to Jobber for at least 12 consecutive months. To qualify, a business activates Dispatchly through the standard secure checkout with a valid credit card, cancels its prior subscription in accordance with that provider's cancellation terms within 30 calendar days of activation, and submits dated proof of the prior subscription and cancellation from Settings > Billing. Evidence is reviewed within five business days of submission.

Upon approval, the account receives the Dispatchly Intro plan free for 12 months beginning on the approval date. No paid subscription begins automatically when the free period ends; customers must actively select a paid plan before any subscription charge is made.

Full program details and terms are available at trydispatchly.com/rescue. Prospective customers can hear the Dispatchly AI receptionist in a live demo call at trydispatchly.com.
