

London Gold Introduces Nature-Inspired Engagement Ring Collection

The 12-design collection features botanical details, tulip-inspired settings, and a selection of natural and lab-grown diamonds.

SCOTTSDALE, AZ, UNITED STATES, August 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- London Gold has released a new nature-inspired engagement ring collection featuring 12 designs influenced by the organic forms of flowers and leaves.

The collection brings together designs from London Gold Jewelry and other jewelry designers, with settings and finished rings available in a range of styles. Natural and lab-grown diamonds are featured throughout the collection, alongside white and yellow gold designs.

Among the collection's recurring elements is the tulip head setting, a style that has seen strong interest from London Gold customers. The floral-inspired setting features sculpted prongs resembling tulip petals that rise around the center diamond.

London Gold's designs include a 3-carat round lab-grown diamond solitaire in 14k white gold with a tulip-inspired head and cathedral-style shoulders. Another London Gold design pairs a 2-carat emerald-cut lab-grown diamond with a six-prong tulip setting in 14k yellow gold.

The collection also includes designs with leaf and floral details. An Ascencio Designs setting in 18k yellow gold incorporates round natural diamond accents totaling 0.18 carats within marquise-shaped leaf motifs. A Gallery Designs setting features marquise and round diamond accents in a botanical arrangement.

An estate jewelry piece adds another interpretation of the nature-inspired theme. The 18k white gold ring centers on a 2.01-carat fancy brownish yellow, heart-shaped natural diamond, surrounded by a diamond halo and leaf accents.

The new release expands London Gold's existing selection of engagement rings, loose diamonds, and gemstones. The collection is available through London Gold, which operates showrooms in Scottsdale, Chandler, and Peoria, Arizona, and includes designs suited to both natural and lab-grown center diamonds.
