DOYLESTOWN, PA – Epoch Automotive, an independent repair facility serving Bucks County, has acquired updated diagnostic software designed for Nissan vehicles. The upgrade improves access to manufacturer-specific systems, control modules, and guided diagnostic procedures, supporting accurate and transparent auto repair in Doylestown.

The updated software allows technicians to interface with Nissan powertrain components, advanced safety systems, electronic control modules, and vehicle communication networks.

Keeping Nissan software current allows us to diagnose vehicle systems accurately and provide clear information to our customers”

Jonathon Tangye, owner of Epoch Automotive

These capabilities improve the identification of drivability concerns, electronic faults, and intermittent system issues commonly found in late-model vehicles.

As modern vehicles become increasingly software-dependent, independent repair facilities must maintain current diagnostic tools to ensure service accuracy. By integrating updated Nissan-compatible software, Epoch Automotive provides a local alternative for drivers seeking manufacturer-aligned diagnostics without relying exclusively on dealership service centers.
