

Momcozy Launches Big Member Sale in Canada

Momcozy members can enjoy exclusive savings on select pumping, feeding and baby-care essentials.

TORONTO, CANADA, August 31, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As summer winds down, families across Canada are returning to familiar routines, from earlier mornings, daycare drop-offs, work commutes and busy evenings preparing for the next day.

For moms, the transition can bring even more to manage, from fitting pumping around work schedules to preparing bottles for daycare and keeping breast milk cool during commutes.

Momcozy's Big Member Sale brings its Brand Day campaign, "Back to Routine. Back to You" to Canada. Designed around the realities of busy family routines, the campaign highlights practical support across pumping, feeding, baby care and on-the-go routines, helping families move into the new season with a little less to manage.

A Little Less to Think About

There is no single right way to settle back into a routine. For one mom, it may mean finding time to pump between meetings. For another, it may be preparing bottles the night before, making the daycare drop-off on time or simply getting through a busy morning with one less thing to worry about.

A smoother routine often comes down to the small things. For moms returning to work, the M5 Smart Wearable Breast Pump offers more flexibility to pump around the work day, while the Momcozy Portable Baby Bottle Cooler for Outdoor helps keep breast milk ready while away from home.

For daycare and busy mornings on the move, the Superfast Portable Baby Bottle Warmer for Travel makes it easier to warm feeds while away from home. Meanwhile, the Momcozy KleanPal Pro Baby Bottle Washer and Sterilizer helps take some of the repetitive work out of getting bottles clean and ready for another day.

For routines that move between home, work and daycare, the PureHug Baby Carrier gives parents a hands-free way to keep their baby close while moving through the day. The BreezyClear™ 2-in-1 Spray & Suction Electric Nasal Aspirator also provides practical support for everyday baby-care moments that rarely arrive according to schedule.

Together with Momcozy's broader range of products, these solutions are designed around the realities of everyday parenthood, helping simplify daily routines and giving parents more time for what matters.
