Guests can coordinate their kimono with obi sashes, bags and other accessories. The company also offers a range of sizes designed to accommodate visitors with different heights and body types.

Professional staff assist guests with the kimono dressing process. Rental Kimono Okamoto also provides multilingual information and support for international visitors, including English-language assistance.

In addition to kimono rental and dressing services, the company offers several return options designed to accommodate different travel schedules.

Guests may choose same-day or next-day returns depending on their itinerary. An inter-store return service is also available for an additional fee, allowing customers to return rented garments at a different Rental Kimono Okamoto location after sightseeing, shopping or dining.

Visitors staying at eligible hotels within Kyoto may also use the company's hotel return service. This option allows guests to continue their activities after sightseeing and return their rental garments through their hotel, subject to the service's applicable conditions.

Rental Kimono Okamoto also offers a photography service in which a professional photographer accompanies guests to selected sightseeing locations in Kyoto.
