

The Bridge to Recovery and Boring Boys Join Forces to Support Access to Healing

BOWLING GREEN, KY, UNITED STATES, August 31, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Bridge to Recovery is proud to announce a new collaboration with Boring Boys, bringing together creativity, a message of hope, and a mission to help others access the support they need to heal. This month, two unique pieces inspired by The Bridge to Recovery are available through the Boring Boys The Collective collection: the Ice Cream High Five BTR Collab T-shirt and the Better Days BTR Collab long-sleeve shirt. Designed exclusively for the collaboration, the pieces celebrate hope, connection, and making choices for better days ahead. A portion of every sale will go directly to The Bridge to Recovery's Life Saver Fund, which helps provide access to healing for individuals who may otherwise be unable to afford the support they need.

For The Bridge to Recovery, the collaboration represents an opportunity to bring greater awareness to the importance of accessible care while giving supporters a tangible way to participate in the mission.

"We love that this collaboration brings creativity and purpose together in a way that can make a real difference," said Shane Groves, Director of Alumni Relations and Continuing Care at The Bridge to Recovery. "Every piece represents hope, connection, and an opportunity to help someone take a meaningful step toward healing."

The Bridge to Recovery is a nonprofit, trauma-focused residential program for mental health in Bowling Green, Kentucky, with more than 50 years of experience providing a safe space for individuals to work through family of origin trauma, codependency, and mental health struggles. Its program focuses on addressing the underlying causes of emotional pain and incorporates group work alongside therapeutic and holistic approaches.

The organization's Life Saver Fund is supported by donations and contributions from people who believe in making recovery more accessible. The fund helps bridge the financial gap for individuals seeking care who might not otherwise have the resources to participate.

The Bridge to Recovery Logo

We love that this collaboration brings creativity and purpose together in a way that can make a real difference."

Shane Groves, The Bridge to Recovery

Boring Boys' The Collective is a collection of limited-edition collaborations created with businesses and organizations working to help their communities. The new Bridge to Recovery pieces bring that philosophy to life through wearable designs inspired by The Bridge to Recovery's work.

The collaboration is available online now through the Boring Boys x The Bridge to Recovery collection. To learn more about The Bridge to Recovery, its programs, and ways to support its mission, visit The Bridge to Recovery's website.

About The Bridge to Recovery

The Bridge to Recovery is a Kentucky mental health workshop and trauma retreat program. Since 1972, the nonprofit organization has helped individuals seeking healing from trauma, anxiety, depression, codependency, addiction, and other challenges. Its mission is to help individuals uncover their pain, discover their truth, and transform their lives through its unique approach to healing through group work.

Jake Gorman
MGMT Digital
email us here

This press release can be viewed online at: <https://www.einpresswire.com/article/938471945>

EIN Presswire's priority is source transparency. We do not allow opaque clients, and our editors try to be careful about weeding out false and misleading content. As a user, if you see something we have missed, please do bring it to our attention. Your help is welcome. EIN Presswire, Everyone's Internet News Presswire™, tries to define some of the boundaries that are reasonable in today's world. Please see our Editorial Guidelines for more information.

© 1995-2026 Newsmatics Inc. All Right Reserved.