

uRISQ® Names Leigh A. McGuire Executive Account Manager to Lead Growth in the Security Industry

Security industry veteran brings extensive experience and relationships across the security ecosystem.

JENSEN BEACH, FL, UNITED STATES,
September 1, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/
-- uRISQ®, CSR Privacy Solutions (CSR), a leading provider of privacy, cybersecurity, and regulatory compliance solutions for small and medium-sized businesses, today announced the appointment of Leigh A. McGuire as Executive Account Manager, with a strategic focus on expanding uRISQ's partnerships within the commercial security industry.

I'm excited to bring uRISQ technology to this community. There is a natural connection between protecting a customer's physical assets and helping protect their data and business operations.”

Leigh A. McGuire

McGuire brings extensive experience working across the security ecosystem and a deep understanding of the companies and professionals that serve it. Throughout her career, she has held leadership roles spanning marketing, communications, membership, business development, customer engagement, and strategic partnerships. Her industry experience includes work with and alongside the Security Industry Association (SIA), ASIS International, and The Monitoring Association (TMA).

“Leigh brings something especially valuable to uRISQ as we expand our commitment to the security industry: a deep understanding of this market and a genuine ability to build trusted, long-term relationships,” said Dr. Ross Federgreen, CEO of CSR Privacy Solutions. “Security dealers and integrators already play a critical role in protecting their customers' people, property and assets. We see a tremendous opportunity to help them extend that trusted relationship into privacy and cybersecurity. Leigh understands these businesses, their customers and the industry, and she is ideally suited to lead that effort for uRISQ.”

In her new role, McGuire will focus on developing relationships with commercial security dealers, integrators, and other industry partners while helping them identify opportunities to incorporate uRISQ privacy, cybersecurity, and compliance solutions into their existing customer relationships.

"I've spent a significant part of my career working with the people and companies that make up the security industry, and I have tremendous respect for the role security dealers and integrators play as trusted advisors to their customers," said McGuire. "I'm excited to bring uRISQ technology and solutions to this community. There is a natural connection between protecting a customer's physical assets and helping protect their data, privacy, and business operations. I look forward to reconnecting with longtime colleagues, building new relationships and helping our partners create even greater value for the customers they serve."

McGuire can be reached at lmcguire@csrps.com or 703-622-9516.
