

HealthLink Dimensions Named One of Atlanta's Best Places to Work in 2026

Recognition highlights a workplace culture built around trust, collaboration, and a commitment to delivering exceptional results for clients

ATLANTA, GA, UNITED STATES, September 1, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HealthLink Dimensions has been named one of the Atlanta Business Chronicle's Best Places to Work in 2026, recognizing the company for creating a workplace where employees are connected to the mission, empowered to contribute, and supported in doing their best work.

The annual Best Places to Work program recognizes Atlanta-area organizations based on confidential employee feedback. Companies are evaluated across areas including leadership, communication, workplace culture, engagement, and overall employee experience.

We have worked hard to build a culture where people have a voice, understand how their work contributes to our success, and feel trusted to make an impact.”

Amar Duggasani, Chief Executive Officer, HealthLink Dimensions

For HealthLink Dimensions, the recognition underscores an intentional approach to building a strong culture as the company continues to grow.

“This recognition is especially meaningful because it reflects the experience of our employees,” said Amar Duggasani, Chief Executive Officer, HealthLink Dimensions. “We have worked hard to build a culture where people have a voice, understand how their work contributes to our success, and feel trusted to make an impact. That environment strengthens our team and ultimately helps us deliver better products, better service, and better outcomes for our clients.”

Growing With Purpose

As HealthLink Dimensions expands its healthcare provider data and marketing capabilities, the company continues to invest in the people behind its products and client relationships.

Innovation is increasingly central to that growth. HealthLink Dimensions is embedding AI into its data workflows and solutions to improve speed, precision, and performance, while continuing to rely on the expertise and judgment of its teams.

The company's momentum has also earned recognition at both the state and national levels. Following its recognition as a 2025 Atlanta Business Chronicle Pacesetter, HealthLink Dimensions was named to the 2026 Georgia Fast 40 and ranked No. 2,561 on the 2026 Inc. 5000 list of the fastest-growing private companies in America.

"Growth gives us the opportunity to keep raising the bar," Duggasani said. "We want to build a company where talented people can do meaningful work, challenge ideas, solve difficult problems, and grow with us. Maintaining that kind of environment will remain a priority as HealthLink Dimensions moves forward."

A Culture That Strengthens the Client Experience

HealthLink Dimensions believes a strong workplace directly influences the quality of the work it delivers. Open communication and collaboration help teams solve complex healthcare data and marketing challenges while maintaining high standards for accuracy, service, privacy, and innovation.

That culture strengthens the qualities that distinguish HealthLink Dimensions in the market, including product excellence and superior service, backed by a strong commitment to privacy and compliance. The company maintains a 95% client retention rate and an NPS of 79, demonstrating the long-term relationships and high level of service its teams provide.

HealthLink Dimensions also maintains rigorous standards for privacy, security, and data governance. The company is the only healthcare data company to earn TRUSTe's Enterprise Privacy & Data Governance Practices Certification. It is also a member of the Network Advertising Initiative and has achieved SOC 2 Type II attestation. These credentials demonstrate an ongoing investment in responsible data practices and strong internal controls.

Employees across the organization are encouraged to contribute ideas and participate in strategic conversations. A flat organizational structure, company-wide town halls, flexible work arrangements, and opportunities to connect outside day-to-day work help keep employees informed, engaged, and connected as the business evolves.
