ChangeNOW is an enterprise-focused crypto super app providing businesses with tools to accept payments, exchange and manage digital assets, and integrate Web3 finance into their operations. Its exchange infrastructure supports more than 1,500 digital assets across more than 90 blockchain networks.

For Krown, the expanding relationship with ChangeNOW addresses an important part of blockchain adoption: making the underlying technology easier to access and use.

“Building the technology is only part of the job. We also have to make KROWN simple to access and practical to use,” said James Stephens, Founder and CEO of Krown Technologies. “This partnership with ChangeNOW gives people a much easier route between traditional currency, digital assets and the Krown ecosystem, and that is an important part of building for full-scale adoption.”

Krown Network is a natively quantum-secured Layer 1 blockchain supporting a growing ecosystem of digital-asset, decentralized finance, Web3 and real-world asset applications.

The ChangeNOW partnership will provide another bridge between that ecosystem and the wider economy, reducing friction for users who want to acquire KROWN, exchange other supported assets for KROWN, or move value back into traditional currency.

Yana Mar, CBDO & Head of Account Management at ChangeNOW, said of the deal: “We’re pleased to welcome Qastle Wallet, a quantum-secure wallet from the Krown ecosystem, to the ChangeNOW Fast Track Program. We’re committed to supporting promising projects, particularly those that already have a strong track record of building and delivering real products. By integrating ChangeNOW’s exchange infrastructure with Qastle Wallet and expanding access to KROWN, we’re helping remove friction for users and making their experience more seamless, while supporting the wallet’s growth and wider adoption.”
