

Strike Group Australia to Showcase Education Device Protection and Mobility Accessories at i-Educate 2026

Strike will demonstrate education-focused solutions that reduce device damage and extend device life, plus an exclusive personalised EduCase experience.

BRISBANE, QUEENSLAND, AUSTRALIA, September 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Strike Group Australia has announced its participation in i-Educate 2026, taking place in Brisbane on 16–17 September 2026 and bringing together Queensland state school leaders, educators, business managers, administrative staff and IT professionals.

i-Educate provides a forum for Queensland's education community to explore how technology and digital innovation can support better outcomes for schools, educators and students through workshops, networking and interactive sessions.

Protecting the Technology That Powers Education

At i-Educate 2026, Strike Group Australia will showcase its portfolio of education-focused device protection and mobility accessories designed to help schools protect their technology investments and meet the everyday demands of digital learning.

As schools increase their reliance on iPads, tablets, laptops and other mobile technology, protecting devices throughout their operational life is becoming increasingly important. Strike's education portfolio includes protective cases, screen protection, charging solutions and mounting systems designed for school environments.

By helping schools reduce accidental damage, extend device life and simplify technology deployment, Strike aims to support more sustainable and cost-effective technology programs.

Strike's solutions support individual student devices, shared classroom technology and IT-managed fleets, including Apple iPad, Samsung Galaxy Tab and Microsoft Surface devices.

"Technology has become fundamental to how Australian schools teach, communicate and operate, but that investment needs to be protected," said Lindsay Ward, General Manager at Strike Group Australia.

"We're proud to participate in i-Educate alongside Queensland Computers and engage directly with the people responsible for making technology work effectively in Queensland schools. As a Queensland-based business with a long-term commitment to education, we want to help schools get greater value and a longer productive life from their technology, with practical solutions designed around the realities of everyday school environments."

Headquartered in Brisbane, Strike combines local product development and support with more than 25 years of experience developing mobile technology solutions. i-Educate provides an opportunity for the Strike team to connect directly with Queensland's education community and demonstrate solutions designed to keep devices protected, accessible and ready for learning.

A Special EduCase Experience at i-Educate

Taking centre stage at the Strike stand will be the Strike EduCase Folio Protective Case for Apple iPad 11th/10th Gen, a lightweight and durable case designed for classrooms and learning environments.

Designed for students, teachers and education organisations, the EduCase Folio features a 2-in-1 magnetic design, transparent back, multi-angle stand, 360° protection and auto sleep/wake functionality. Its flexible design supports viewing, typing, learning and presenting, and it is available in Blue, Black and Red.

Strike has also planned something special exclusively for i-Educate attendees involving the EduCase Folio. Visitors to the Strike stand will have the opportunity to arrange a personalised EduCase featuring their school logo, professionally produced after the event and delivered directly to them.

Full details of the activation will be revealed at i-Educate, giving attendees another reason to visit the Strike stand and discover how their school identity can be brought to the EduCase.
