MIAMI, FL, UNITED STATES, September 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The STO Foundation, which plans to rebrand as the Tokenized Asset Foundation, today announced the launch of IssuerDirectory.com, a global platform dedicated to the discovery of issuers and investment offerings across the rapidly expanding real-world asset tokenization and digital securities markets.

The Global Directory for Tokenized Real World
Assets”

Randy Goldberg

IssuerDirectory.com provides a centralized destination where investors, institutions, broker-dealers, family offices, advisors, and other market participants can explore organizations bringing real-world assets on-chain. The platform is designed to make it easier to discover issuers, compare opportunities, review available offering information, and connect directly with participating organizations.

Visitors can browse issuers and offerings across asset classes including real estate, private credit, funds, commodities, energy, infrastructure, intellectual property, collectibles, natural resources, and other tokenized assets.

“Real-world asset tokenization is expanding globally, but information about issuers and offerings remains fragmented across individual websites, platforms, and jurisdictions,” said Mark Mariampillai, Executive Director of the STO Foundation. “IssuerDirectory.com brings this information together in one accessible destination, providing issuers with greater visibility while helping investors and industry professionals discover the organizations and opportunities shaping tokenized capital markets.”

Professional Profiles for Issuers and Offerings

Participating organizations can create professional issuer profiles featuring information such as:

- * Company background and leadership
- * Active and upcoming offerings
- * Asset classes and investment categories
- * Offering structure and jurisdiction
- * Target yield and minimum investment, when applicable
- * Tokenization platforms and technology providers
- * Legal, compliance, custody, brokerage, and distribution partners
- * Videos, whitepapers, pitch decks, offering documents, and data-room links
- * Official websites and social media channels
- * Direct inquiry and contact options

The platform allows users to explore listings based on factors such as asset class, offering type, jurisdiction, investment category, target yield, minimum investment, and technology provider.

IssuerDirectory.com is intended to support organizations ranging from emerging issuers and specialized asset managers to established financial institutions and tokenization platforms. Its global structure allows issuers to present their businesses and offerings to a broader audience without being limited to a single marketplace, platform, or geographic region.

Expanding Visibility Across the Tokenized Asset Ecosystem

IssuerDirectory.com forms part of the STO Foundation's growing ecosystem of resources supporting real-world asset tokenization, digital securities, compliant capital formation, and institutional adoption.

The Foundation's initiatives include educational programming, webinars, industry events, professional directories, the RWA Forum, investor-discovery resources, a global vendor directory, and the Tokenized Markets Weekly newsletter.

"Many innovative issuers struggle to gain visibility outside their immediate networks," said Randy Goldberg, President of the STO Foundation. "Our goal is to give qualified organizations a professional platform where they can present their projects, explain their offerings, and connect with investors, advisors, service providers, and potential strategic partners around the world."

Issuer listings are included at no additional cost with qualifying STO Foundation memberships. Independent listing options are also available for organizations that are not currently Foundation members.

Issuers, asset managers, tokenization platforms, and other organizations interested in being featured can visit IssuerDirectory.com to review available listing options and submit their information.
