

WinningStrategy.ai: AI Analyst with auditable numbers

WinningStrategy.ai automates finance and consulting workflows, helping teams move from complex analysis to faster decisions and execution.

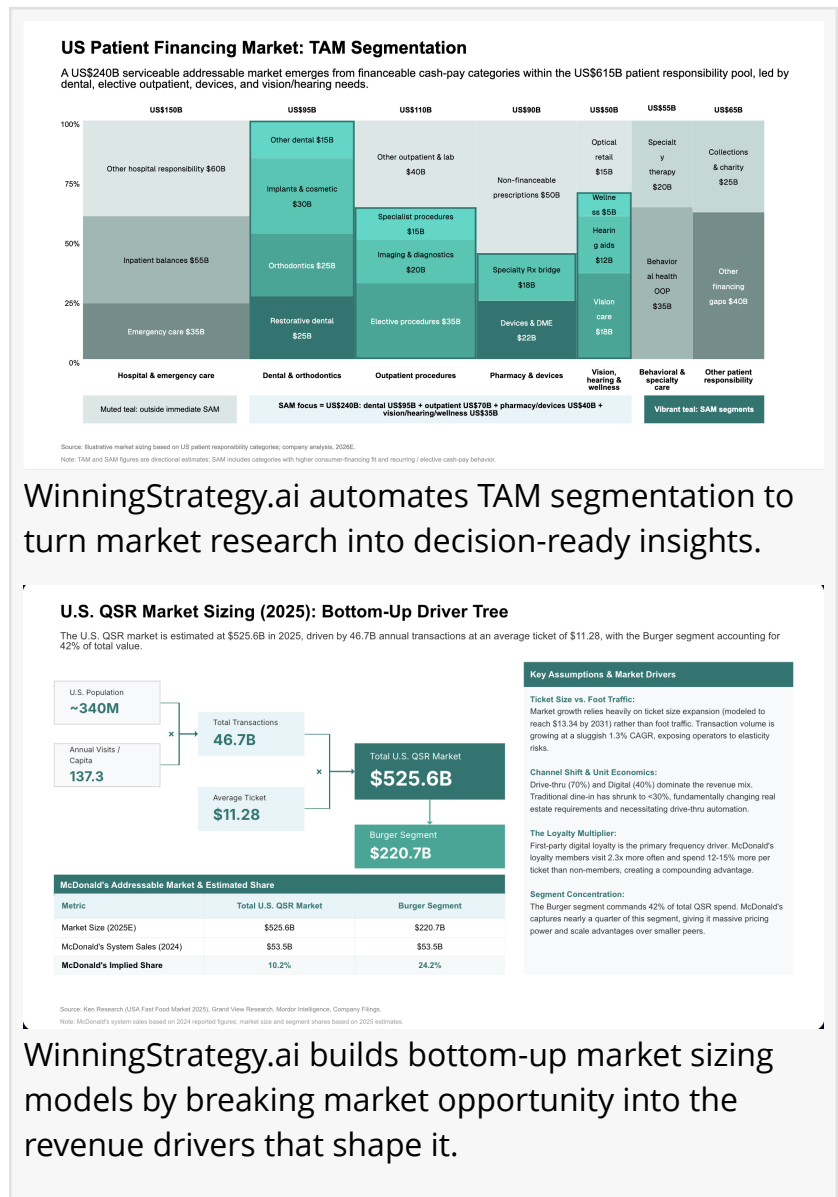

MUMBAI, MAHARASHTRA, INDIA, September 2, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The consulting industry is moving from selling hours to selling outcomes. As AI has automated most of the work traditionally performed by analysts and consultants, WinningStrategy.ai is building an AI Analyst platform with proven decision frameworks so that businesses can move from decision to execution rapidly Consulting has been following the bill by hour revenue pattern. You have a business problem. Consultants staff a team. The team bills in hours. And eventually, you receive a slide deck with recommendations.

The more complex the problem, the more people and hours are charged to build a fancy slide deck with all the buzzwords, with no ownership of the outcome whatsoever.

But businesses don't buy slide decks. They buy revenue, growth, cost savings and faster execution.

AI is accelerating the path to those outcomes: From financial models and M&A due diligence to market research, pricing, growth strategy and transformation planning, entire workflows that once required teams of analysts and consultants can now be automated end-to-end.

But automation alone isn't enough. Finance and consulting require numbers that are auditable, models that are traceable, and outputs that are consulting-grade and ready for the boardroom.

WinningStrategy.ai is built for this transition. It's an AI Analyst that automates consulting and finance workflows with auditable numbers, analytical depth and consulting frameworks that turn complex data into structured decisions.

WinningStrategy.ai is built on deep domain expertise in finance and consulting," said Shubham Lohakare, Co-founder of WinningStrategy.ai. "Having worked in these industries, we understand how teams solve client problems and are turning that expertise into repeatable AI workflows that automate the work of analysts and consultants.

It doesn't stop at analysis or recommendations. WinningStrategy.ai helps teams move from problem → analysis → decision → execution, accelerating decision-making and helping businesses act faster on the opportunities that drive revenue, growth and cost savings.

Instead of five analysts spending three weeks doing research and building a fancy deck, one professional can direct AI agents to do the work in minutes, review the output, apply judgment and move directly to execution.

Stop buying hours. Start buying outcomes.
